Four-year-old Karen Irene Kinsella, youngest member of a long-established San Rafael family, was killed yesterday when she ran in front of a Greyhound bus on U.S. Highway 40 at Soda Springs, Nevada County.

Mrs. and Mrs. Donald Kinsella and their children, of 221 Bayview Drive, Bayside Acres, had gone on an outing to the snow when the tragedy occurred. Mrs. Kinsella told highway patrolmen that the girl had been called across the road to have her picture taken.

The bus driver, James Francis Maxwell, 35, of Sacramento was not held.

There was a heavy snowfall at the time of the accident, and traffic was slowed for miles on Highway 40, observers said.

The Kinsellas have three other children, Kevin, 9; Patricia, 8, and Michael, 6, all natives of San Rafael. The father is foreman of a construction crew for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Kinsella's grandfather, the late Richard Kinsella, came to Marin County in the late 1860s and was once mayor of San Rafael. His mother was a member of the Pacheco family, holders of an original Spanish land grant in Marin.

Also surviving are the maternal grandparents, Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Serna, all of San Rafael.

Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's chapel, San Rafael. A Mass of the Angels will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at St. Raphael's Church, followed by burial at Mount Olivet Cemetery. The funeral cortege will assemble at 9:15 a.m. at Keaton's.

Tree Hits, Kills Oil Firm Aide

A former government oil consultant was killed by a falling tree near Inverness Saturday afternoon.

He was Wilfred George Donley, 55, economic counsel for Standard Oil of California in San Francisco and a resident of Palo Alto who planned a Marin County summer home.

Donley recently bought three acres in Paradise Estates at the western end of the Point Reyes Peninsula. He was busy Saturday clearing the property with the help of his wife, Doris. About noon he finished sawing through an oak tree 40 feet high and two feet in diameter.

The big oak became entangled with a small scrub oak beside it. Instead of falling straight, it swung, striking Donley on the back of the head. He died instantly of broken neck and skull fracture, according to report of the Marin County coroner's office.

Mrs. Donley told Coroner Frank J. Keaton she was unaware of the accident but noticed that the chain saw had stopped, and called to her husband. When he failed to respond to three calls, she ran out and found his body pinned by the tree trunk.

She ran to a nearby home and called the fire department and a Point Reyes Station physician, who pronounced Donley dead.

The body was taken to Palo Alto, with funeral arrangements to be handled by the Roller and Hagood Mortuary, Palo Alto.

In 1956 Donley was one of six consultants appointed by the secretary of interior to deal with the problems of moving oil from Arabia during the Suez crisis.

Survivors include his wife, a son, Peter of Walnut Creek, and a sister, Mrs. Douglas Coates of Vancouver, B. C.

County Farm Repair Cost Held Too High

Earthquake-proofing of part of the county hospital in Lucas Valley for occupancy by a section of the county probation department would cost $30,000 to $35,000 more than the around-$50,000 outlay already authorized for remodeling, according to public works director Donald R. Frost.

"That adds up to a potential outlay of about $85,000, which is an awful lot of money to put in an old building," said Frost today. "However, it's up to the supervisors to decide."

$47,000 ESTIMATE

Initial decision of the supervisors March 19 was that it would make good economic sense to remodel, on an estimate of around $47,000 for conversion work shown necessary by preliminary survey by the San Rafael architectural firm of Crawford and Banning.

It was expected this remodeling cost would provide offices which could be used by county officials for the next 15 or 20 years. Equivalent rented space now costs $450 a month.

Last week the county received a letter from structural engineer Harold Engle saying that the earthquakeing he did two years ago was temporary, and that the county should do more permanent safeguarding if it wished to use the building for anything like 15 or 20 years more.

POOR IDEA

On this basis Frost went to work by supervisors' instructions. The result, he indicated today, is so disconcerting as to make a formerly economically justified job begin to seem a poor idea.

Frost said maybe it would be better to abandon the hospital building and let the probation department wait for Phase 2 of the Civic Center in it presently rented Cheda Building rooms. He will report to the supervisors have a look at the situation at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Judge Steps Out Of Case Over A-Plant

SANTA ROSA (AP) — The judge who was to try the lawsuit by opponents of a Pacific Gas and Electric atomic power plant at Bodega Bay disqualified himself today, saying he holds PG&E stock.

Superior Court Judge Charles J. McGoldrick, asked by Sonoma County counsel for a month's delay to do more work on the case granted a postponement to April 15.

He suggested that a judge be brought in from outside the county to try the case.

The "Northern California Association to Preserve Bodega Head and Harbor" is seeking to have a use permit for the plant set aside.

Roger Maris Suffers Pulled Leg Muscle

LAKEHURST, N.J. (AP) — Slugger Roger Maris was lost to the New York Yankees for an indefinite period today when he suffered a severely pulled leg muscle during an exhibition game.

Maris pulled the hamstring muscle in his left leg making a tumbling catch of a line drive.

Senators Support Braden Position

Backing From All Assured

SACRAMENTO (AP)—The Senate Rules Committee today unanimously recommended Gov. Edmund G. Brown's controversial re-appointment of Thomas W. Braden to the State Education Board.

The decision, announced by Committee Chairman Sen. Hugh M. Burns, (D-Fresno), virtually assured his confirmation by the full Senate.

Seldom does the Senate reject such appointments, especially when it would be put in a position of overruling the powerful Rules Committee.

ONLY DECISION

Burns said the committee vote was unanimous.

Burns said in a statement that the decision was the only one that could be made under the circumstances.

"To my way of thinking, there were some justifiable but minute criticisms directed at Braden," he said. "Those who opposed Mr. Braden's re-appointment failed to adequately prove charges of unfitness to serve another four years in this office."

Burns criticized the State Education Board for endorsing Dr. Ralph Richardson for superintendent of public instruction in 1962. He was defeated by Dr. Maxwell Rafferty.

ALL RESPONSIBLE

"But the full blame cannot be charged to Braden as the other members of the board were equally responsible," he said.

The Senate majority leader also criticized statements attributed to Braden's newspaper in Oceanside. He called it "the result of poor judgment."

Burns referred in particular to an editorial stating that Rafferty was a "Bircher."

"It is regrettable," he said, "that statements were published giving the impression that Braden is against the teaching of patriotism as such. However, the accuracy of such statements was never established, and it seems apparent that some remarks were taken out of context."

Burns said he didn't condone some of Braden's actions and statements in the past year, but neither did he dispute his right as a private citizen to speak his mind.

WINS SUPPORT—Oceanside publisher Thomas W. Braden won support today in Sacramento from the Senate Rules Committee. The group recommended confirmation of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's reappointment of Braden to the state Board of Education. Braden had been opposed by Jack Schrade, a Republican senator from his home county of San Diego. Braden is a Democrat. Full Senate approval is expected. Braden is pictured at a recent Sacramento news conference. (AP Wirephoto)

DELOOF EB T'NOD ?sihT sl yaD tahW sseuG A ekaT tsuJ

If anybody phoned to Marin County's only zoo today to ask for Mr. Fish or Mr. Camel, the April Fool joke was on him.

"Cause why? The Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael was shut down tight.

Nothing exceptional about the closedown, but fortunate maybe in case Marin County people get whimsical the way they do with New York's Bronx Zoo. The San Rafael zoo closes every Monday to rest up after Sunday attendance.

But those people in the Bronx are regular jokers, every April 1.

France is the place where the custom of April Fooling is really dug in. It started more than 400 years ago. Under the Julian calendar people used to make calls on April 1 because it was then just a week after

New Year's Day.

When Charles IX adopted the reform calendar in 1562, making the year start Jan. 1, conservatives objected and mock calls continued on April 1.

People who get fooled in France on April 1 are called "poissons d'avril" or April fish, because the sun is leaving the zodiacal sign of Pisces at that time.

England didn't catch onto April Fooling until the start of the 18th Century. And the Scots were still slower. After they picked up April 1 notions from the English, April "fools" began to be called April gowks, a gawk being a cuckoo.

On San Rafael's Fourth Street there is a shop offering psychiatric service to cuckoo clocks. This might be extended to April Fools today.

British Halt, Take Cubans En Route To Raiding Party

MIAMI, (UPI)—A British warship guided by a U.S. Navy patrol plane intercepted and captured a Cuban exile raiding party en route to Cuba late yesterday, it was reported.

A spokesman for the exile group, "the Cuban anti-Communist army," announced the interception and seizure here. He said the raiding unit was boarded by a detachment of British marines and taken under escort to Nassau.

It was the first reported case of Anglo-American action to halt anti-Castro exile attacks on Cuba since the new Washington policy announced last Saturday.

According to the Miami spokesman, identified only as "Dr. Bosch," the raider was one of two naval units en route to attack Cuban shipping.

He said the unidentified commander of the second raiding unit, still at large in the Caribbean, reported the seizure and said he would "not surrender to anybody."

His 31-foot patrol craft, searched out a Soviet tanker reported in the vicinity, will "resist seizure, even by U.S. Navy units," the commander reported.

Survival Test A Graham Cracker Ordeal

CARTHAGE, Mo. (P)—"Man, I don't think I ever want to see another graham cracker."

Michael Randall, 12, of Joplin, Mo., summed up the feelings of 822 Boy Scouts who stumbled out of a civil defense shelter yesterday after a 36-hour survival test.

The boys were supposed to live on CD survival crackers. But there weren't enough, so graham crackers were issued—eight to a meal, with only water to wash them down.

Ronnie Hailey, 11, Joplin, was asked what he got out of the test.

"A weak stomach," he replied.

Actress McDonald Lost And Found

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—Ailing actress Marie (The Body) McDonald, who vanished from a psychiatric clinic yesterday, returned to her apartment today, apparently unharmed.

Detectives who rushed to the apartment after receiving a telephone call from a friend of the actress said Miss McDonald appeared well.

There was no immediate indication as to where Miss McDonald had been since she disappeared from the clinic, wearing only a blue nylon negligee over her white hospital gown.

Police had scoured forest and beach areas for the 39-year-old actress. Officials at Rozelle Psychiatric Center had said the blonde beauty may have needed urgent attention for a bleeding ulcer.

Marine Dies: He Wasn't A Squirrel

PERRIS (Riverside County) (UPI)—Something moved between rocks, so a 13-year-old boy raised, aimed and fired his 22-caliber rifle. He thought it was a squirrel.

But instead his accurate marksmanship felled a teen-aged Marine reservist out on a hunting trip.

Sheriff's deputies said James Clair Davis, 19, Lynwood, died on the spot of a gunshot wound in the head.

Exile Crackdown

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—A fresh report from Cuba that guerrilla forces are weak and lack arms left a bleak outlook today for Miami's exile colony, already discouraged by the United States crackdown on commando raids.

"There is no strong underground or guerrilla movement in Cuba—despite what you hear," said Carlos Penin, former schoolmate of Fidel Castro and now coordinator of the People's Revolutionary Movement.

His report came on the heels of a weekend crackdown on Miami's anti-Castro groups. Some 18 exile leaders were told they could not leave Dade County, which includes most of metropolitan Miami.

New A-Generator

PARIS, S.C. (P)—The Southeast's first nuclear electric generating plant is operational.

The 17,000-kilowatt plant, sufficient to supply a city of 15,000, was built by Carolinas Virginia Nuclear Power Associates.

Cost of the project exceeds 45 million dollars.

Highlights Of Study On Life In Year 2000

WASHINGTON (P)—The United States has ample resources to support a 2-trillion-dollar economy by the year 2000 and apparently can continue to grow far into the 21st century.

This was the conclusion of a bulky authoritative report published today by Resources for the Future, Inc., after a five-year study.

It painted these highlights in its picture of the year 2000.

Land looms as the greatest shortage—space to accommodate the homes, businesses, travel and recreation of an end-of-the-century population of around 331 million. There are now 188 million Americans.

Cropland will be ample to produce food — and troublesome farm surpluses—far into the future. Other identified demands for land add up to 50 million more acres than there are in the 48 contiguous states; some land will have to be put to two or more uses.

THREE CARS

About 244 million autos — possibly three for every two adults—will be plying the streets and highways.

Some of the vehicles may be auto-planes, safely operable in the air as on turnpikes. Some may be powered by batteries, recharged by household current; others may run on chemical fuel cells.

Whatever the motor fuel, there will be enough to run the cars at no great increase in cost. There will be enough materials to meet the estimated demand for 26 million new cars a year—about four times today's output.

PAPER CLOTHES

Americans will be eating more meat, especially beef, and less wheat. They will grow taller while consuming fewer calories, and will wear fewer and lighter clothes — including, perhaps, some disposable garments made of paper.

The atom will provide more energy than coal, but coal use will still be growing.

The two-house family will be common. More and more Americans will have a city home and a country home, or a winter house and a summer cottage.

Spendable income of the middle-income family, after taxes are paid, will be $11,000 a year, instead of today's $5,000.

Total national output, now around 560 billion dollars a year, will have climbed above 1 trillion dollars by 1980 and then doubled to more than 2 trillion dollars by 2000.

Water will be a shortage problem for the West and a quality problem for the East, the researchers found. More dams and reservoirs on eastern rivers will be needed to ensure enough dependable flow to purify the sewage and industrial waste, or flush it into the sea.

In the West, the study indicated, many areas may be obliged to curtail irrigation of crops if they hope to continue their rapid population and industrial growth.

Military Takes Over Guatemala

New Leaders Against Reds; President Flown To Exile

IN AND OUT—Defense Minister Enrique Peralta Aburdia (left) was installed as chie executive of Guatemala yesterday after a military takeover of the government Saturday night. Ousted President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes (right) shoulders an automatic weapon. This photo was taken last November after loyal troops put down a revolt.

(AP Wirephoto)

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (UPI)—Military leaders who ousted President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes to prevent what they termed a threatened Communist takeover maintained tight control today of this small Central American republic.

Ydigoras and his wife were flown to exile in Managua, Nicaragua, in a Guatemalan airliner yesterday following a bloodless Saturday night coup d'etat. The deposed president told newsmen there, "The change is good for Guatemala and for Central America."

The military installed Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, defense minister in the ousted government, as chief executive with power to rule by decree.

Peralta, 54, suspended the constitution, dismissed the national assembly and banned activities of political parties. Tanks and troops were posted in strategic spots throughout the capital and air force planes circled the city.

The new military rulers issued a nine-point statement outlining their program:

1. The military forces have assumed the government of the republic.

2. The minister of national defense, Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia, as the highest ranking officer, will exercise the executive and legislative functions.

3. The constitution of the republic will be suspended for the time necessary to restore order and tranquility to the nation.

4. As the opportunity arises, the government will issue a provisional charter guaranteeing essential rights to the citizens.

5. For the time being the chief of the executive will govern by decree. The national assembly is dissolved.

6. Government employees and the courts will carry on their duties according to normal laws.

Quakes In Iran

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI)—Two earthquakes have struck remote parts of Iran in the past two days, causing several deaths and widespread destruction, it was reported today.

Unofficial reports indicated at least four persons were killed, two others were injured and more than 100 houses were destroyed.

Unemotional Robot To Check Against Tax Return Cheating

MARTINSBURG, W. V. (P)—Taxpayers tempted to fudge on their April 15 federal returns should think again. They may be up against a formidable combination, including:

1. A robot without any feelings.

2. A bureaucrat who admires the logic of Aristotle.

3. A gal whose eyes change from blue to green depending on what color eye shadow she is wearing.

These are among the workers in a small, modernistic building here in the Shenandoah Valley apple country. The building houses the national computer center of the Internal Revenue Service.

The robot, or computer, is checking millions of tax returns from the Eastern seaboard. By 1966, it will be prying into returns from all over the nation—an estimated 78 million, including individuals and businesses.

Raw data—such as the figures on your return—are punched on cards in regional offices in Atlanta and Philadelphia. These cards transfer the information to magnetic tape. The tape—about 55,000 tax accounts on a reel about a foot in diameter—is then flown to Martinsburg.

Then the computer goes to work. Fed the raw tape, it checks against a master file to see whether a taxpayer has filed all returns lawfully due, whether he is up to date on payments and whether there is anything suspicious about him.

Then the machine produces another tape for shipment back to the field. This can automatically write notices that a person owes money, that he must produce his papers for an audit, or that he is even with the government.

When the computer sends out a notice requiring an answer, it begins counting the days, and if a taxpayer does not respond in time it fires off a sterner warning.

It can alert revenue agents to slap a lien on the old homestead or—oh yes—it can automatically write a refund check if necessary.

In charge of this awesome set-up is not a high-domed scientist—as you might expect—but an English major from Bowdoin College, class of 1940, John E. Stewart by name. He is an unusual bureaucrat, in that he takes pride in the small size of his bureau, 78 persons in additions to the robot.

The machine is important, he says, but far more important are the people attending it. They don't necessarily have to have advanced university degrees.

"But they must have an aptitude; an ability to do some abstract reasoning—like the logic of Aristotle, a master philosopher of ancient Greece. Above all, they have to be able to get along with other people, because this is a team job."

One of the youngest members of the team is a 20-year-old secretary, a looker named Miss Naomi Hoomes. She does not claim to understand the computer thoroughly, but she is in thorough accord with his philosophy.

A newsmen with a passion for detail remarked that he had no trouble figuring out that her hair is brown, but was puzzled by the color of her eyes.

"That depends on the dress I am wearing and the eye shadow," she explained. "Today I am wearing a beige dress and green shadow. Therefore the eyes are green. Is it all right with you if I go back to work now?"

It turns out that checking on tax cheaters is not the sole reason for the computer, though an important one. Even if everybody were 100 per cent honest, Internal Revenue would drown in a sea of paper work as the population expands. Hence the resort to automation.

The computer is lightning fast, but in some ways it pretty dumb, Hoke said.

To show how dumb it really is, it does not charge premium pay for overtime as any self-respecting union workman would. In fact its wage rate plummets when it labors overtime. Hired out by IBM, it charges a standard wage for the first 176 hours a month, then the rate drops to 40 per cent.

Board Of Appeals Due Hospital Plan

The owner of Rafael Convalescent Hospital in Santa Venetia, who ran into a technical snag in his attempt to expand the hospital, will appeal to the Marin County Board of Appeals tonight.

The Board of Appeals will meet at 8 p.m. on the second floor of the San Rafael courthouse.

Timothy Egan, owner of the hospital, wants to triple its size. In doing so, he plans to put living quarters for some of his employees at one end of a new wing. This would make the building a two-story structure. The county building code limits its wood frame hospital structures to one story.

The Board of Appeals will also consider an appeal by San Rafael contractor Charles Hendrickson against a change made in the ordinance last year that requires fire retardant treatment of Philippine mahogany used in interior finish.

ORIGINAL, FINDER, AND DUPLICATE

Sir Francis Drake's historic "plate of brass" and a larger-sized replica were on exhibit today at the opening of the new offices of Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Assn., in the Northgate Shopping Center. The wall plaque will remain as a part of the

'Erratic' Driving Jails Man

A 26-year-old Letterman General Hospital intern was arrested at 9:30 a.m. yesterday in Mill Valley and jailed on a charge of driving under influence of a narcotic.

William B. Speak was first taken to the police department for intoxication tests. Three fresh needle marks were found in his right arm.

Speak, according to officer Robert Dyche, was driving a damaged Chevrolet "in an erratic manner" westbound on East Blithedale Avenue at 9:25 a.m. Speak failed to stop at the stop sign at the Camino Alto-East Blithedale intersection and Dyche pursued him, sounding his horn several times.

Speak narrowly missed three parked cars in the 400 block on East Blithedale, failed to negotiate a turn at Elm Avenue and ran over the curb and onto the sidewalk, Dyche reported. The car was stopped at Carmelita Avenue. Speak was unable to stand or walk without assistance, Officer Dyche said.

Continental Army General Visits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A 17-gun salute echoed over the San Francisco Presidio as Gen. John K. Waters visited 6th Army headquarters today for the first time since becoming head of the U. S. Continental Army Command on Feb. 1.

General Waters scheduled a tour of Fort Baker, Fort Barry and Fort Cronkhite, across the Golden Gate in Marin County today. He arrived by air at Hamilton Air Force Base this morning.

He will leave early tomorrow for an inspection of Fort Ord at Monterey, Fort MacArthur at San Pedro, and Fort Irwin at Barstow.

School Electric Typewriter Stolen

An electric typewriter and a microphone disappeared from the San Pedro School administrative office, Principal Mrs. Lee S. Heise reported to the sheriff yesterday.

Mrs. Heise had gone to the school on San Pedro Road next to Loch Lomond to do some office work yesterday. She noticed the desk and filing cabinets had been disturbed, and a Smith-Corona portable typewriter missing. The loss is valued at $250.

Sheriff's Inspector Guido Battaglia and Deputy Edmond Maubertet said there was no sign of forced entry.

New Jobs Needed

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — It will take 41 million new jobs in the next 10 years just to keep unemployment from getting worse, says Walter Reuther.

The president of the United Auto Workers, AFL-CIO, spoke at the dedication of a new hall for UAW Local 93 yesterday.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY: 1:10 a.m., San Rafael—Awning fire at 2070 Fourth Street, partly extinguished by San Rafael police with hand extinguisher. 10:40 p.m., Corte Madera—Kitchen fire in Marin Joe's Restaurant put out by Corte Madera firemen before county firemen arrived; $300 smoke damage.

Corte Madera Town Clerk Will Resign

The resignation, effective June 1, of Mrs. Naydeen Tuttle, town clerk of Corte Madera for four and one-half years, will be presented to the Corte Madera town council meeting at 7:30 p. m. today in the town hall.

Mrs. Tuttle said she already has submitted her resignation as senior clerk to town mgr. Arthur H. Brandow. She said she is retiring "to spend my full time as a homemaker." She has six children.

She was named the town clerk in September, 1958, after Brandow had served in the capacity for a period in addition to his duties as town manager following resignation of clerk George Menke.

The council will hold a public hearing on a proposed grading and drainage ordinance to get the views of contractors. Brandow will inquire whether the town should ask the Corte Madera Sanitary District board whether it would like space in the firehouse when it is remodeled.

Check Forger Gets 14 Years

Joseph Leonard Ash, 48, of San Rafael, who forged two checks in San Rafael stores last month, must serve one to 14 years in state prison.

He was sentenced today by Judge N. Charles Brusatori of Marin Superior Court.

San Rafael police, who arrested Ash on March 1, said he had numerous arrests for bad checks and other crimes since 1934. Ash passed worthless $50 checks at Luana's Dress Shop and Leeland's Jewelry on San Rafael's Fourth Street.

Woman Cut, Bruised In Gangplank Fall

Mrs. Frances Marie Haussler, 56, of 5 Apollo Road, Tiburon, suffered cuts and bruises about the face last night when she fell at the gangplank at Clipper Yacht Club in Sausalito where her husband's boat is moored.

She was treated at Marin General Hospital for bruises on the forehead and a cut on the nose.

Woman In Hospital; 'Pills Overdose'

Gloria M. Grant, 36, an office worker of 322 Spring Drive, Tamalpais Valley, was hospitalized at Marin General Hospital today for an overdose of sleeping tablets.

Delia Garnica, who lives with Miss Grant, called the sheriff at 3 a.m. Deputy Sheriff Ernest Nielsen found the victim sitting dazed, on the bedroom floor. In her purse on the floor was a container with sleeping tablets.

Juanita Shuts Eatery, Fears Disturbance

Juanita's Galley, the all-night restaurant at Waldo Point, was closed briefly last night because the owner feared a disturbance when a group of Hell's Angels arrived about 6 p.m.

The restaurant re-opened after a couple of hours, sheriff's deputies reported.

Tamalpais Board Due Education Fund Discussion

The Tamalpais Union High School District board tonight will consider seeking National Defense Education Act funds to assist in financing audio-lingual laboratories in each of its three high schools and an electronics laboratory at Tamalpais High School.

The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in district headquarters in Larkspur.

The board will consider converting Kaiser Hall at Tamalpais High, present location of the science department, into a building for the English department. Science is to be moved to a new structure being built.

Trustees will consider hiring nine teachers for the district for next school year to replace several leaving and take care of increased enrollment.

Group Discusses Forming Film Unit

Thirty-five persons met last night at the home of John Kory in Stinson Beach to see five films and discuss forming a film society.

Kory, a free-lance film maker, said the group formed a committee to select future films and set 8 p.m., April 21, as tentative date for the next showing.

Purpose of the society, which has no name as yet, is to show films which could not be seen commercially, such as documentaries, experimental and animation films. A membership fee is to be charged to pay for renting of films.

Bedlington Terrier Wins Third Place

A San Rafael girl's Bedlington terrier Saturday won third place in the "Best Dressed Farm Animal" contest at the Junior Grand National Livestock Exposition at San Francisco's Cow Palace.

The dog, owned by Shellie Hadley, 9, was attired as a court jester.

OBITUARIES

Willis B. Stewart Dies At 72

Willis B. Stewart, 72, of 83 Porteous Avenue, Fairfax, a resident of Marin County for six years, died today in a local hospital after a short illness.

Stewart was retired, having been an employee of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Hutchinson, Kan., for 38 years. He was a life member of the Telephone Pioneers of America and a member of Lyle Pishel Post 68, American Legion, of Hutchinson.

He is survived by his wife, Grace; three sons, Robert Hale Stewart of London, England; Richard S. Stewart of Skyforest, San Bernardino County, and James H. Jenkins of Fairfax; four sisters and a brother, Mrs. Gladys Stevenson of Sonoma, Mrs. Edith Light of Hutchinson, Mrs. Ethel Fleeman of Pomona, Mrs. Bernice Shreck of Wichita, Kan., and Donald T. Stewart of San Bernardino, and four grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael.

ERMENTIA GARZOLI

A Requiem Mass for Mrs. Ermentia Garzoli, 81, of Petaluma, a former resident of Marin County, will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m. in St. Vincent's Church, Petaluma.

Mrs. Garzoli died Saturday in Petaluma hospital after a short illness. She lived in Petaluma for five years. Previously she and her late husband, Arnold, lived on ranches in Sonoma and Marin counties where he was employed as a dairyman.

She is survived by two daughters and a son, Mrs. Jesta Kuck of Petaluma, Mrs. Aileen Walline of Novato and Ray Garzoli of South Carolina; two brothers and a sister, Henry and Charles Pellascio of Valley Ford, Sonoma County and Mrs. Lucy Cadjew of Sacramento, and a grandson and granddaughter.

The Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma. Entombment will be in Calvary Mausoleum.

RALPH RICH

Military funeral services for Air Force Capt. Ralph C. Rich, 33, of Hamilton Air Force Base, were held today at 2 p.m. at the base chapel.

Captain Rich, who was maintenance officer of the 78th Fighter Wing, died Friday at his home at 282 Westover Circle, of an apparently self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Burial will be held at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at Golden Gate National Cemetery.

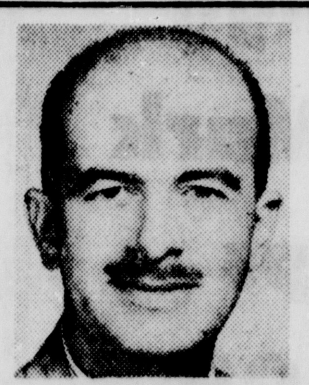

The West Point graduate, a native of Los Angeles, leaves his wife, two children, and his parents.

Novato Police

Officer Dismissed

Officer Harold E. Sutton of the Novato Police Department, who was involved in an accident in a patrol car on March 2, was dismissed from the police force yesterday, City Administrator J. Julien Baget announced today.

Sutton was dismissed because he had "made false statements concerning a relationship with a married woman." Police Chief Roy McLaren reported to Baget. "The recent car accident was not a factor in his dismissal," Baget said.

Neck Injuries Can Be Serious

by Dr. Robert W. Pearce

A Detroit doctor says cars should be equipped with headrests. He states a driver's head is likely to snap back and cause a neck injury if the car is struck from the rear.

Neck injuries often are dismissed too lightly. The slight stiffness in the neck you may notice after a fall or a minor accident can develop into serious trouble.

Your neck has seven of the twenty-four bones or vertebrae of the spine. A fall or accident that snaps your neck may push one of the vertebrae out of line. This means that your spine will be out of line and the

DELLA BUCKLIN

Funeral services for Mrs. Della Bucklin, 69, mother of Mrs. Claude Earwood of San Rafael, were held last Wednesday in Blair, Neb., where Mrs. Bucklin died March 25 at her home.

Mrs. Bucklin, a native of West Point, Neb., is also survived by sons Rolland and Lester Bucklin of Blair and Paul Bucklin of Seattle, Wash., and four grandchildren.

LEWIS CUMMINGS

Private family funeral services were held today for Lewis L. Cummings of 18 Martling Road, Sleepy Hollow, at Chapel of the Hills, San Anselmo.

Cummings, a resident of Marin County for 27 years, died Friday in a local hospital after a short illness.

Cummings, 67, was a retired warehouseman for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of San Anselmo and San Anselmo Post 179 of the American Legion. He was a veteran of World War I.

Cummings is survived by his wife, Bertha; a son, Vernon Cummings of Antioch; a sister, Katie Cummings of Petrolia, Humboldt County, and a granddaughter.

Unruh, CDC On The Warpath

BAKERSFIELD (P) — Open Warfare exists today between the California Democratic Council and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh.

The first major skirmish was fought at the weekend convention of the volunteer party organization. But it's probably too early to tell.

The anti-Unruh move climaxed a smoldering dispute over the CDC's rule, tied in with a struggle for power within the party that has developed since the Democrats captured the state politically.

Members feel the CDC played a key role in the big Democratic victory in 1958. They resent Unruh's emergence as a dominant figure who mostly works outside its ranks.

Convention delegates spoke out forcefully in adopting an election reform committee report bristling with veiled criticism of Unruh's campaign operations.

"We are persuaded by our recent experiences," it said, "that the alternative to a strong CDC is Boss Rule — machine politics. As citizens and Democrats this alternative is unacceptable."

"Therefore, we believe that the role of CDC in the Democratic party must be strengthened."

Unruh, here for the convention, declined comment.

Delegates showed their independence again in approving a series of liberal-minded resolutions which, on some issues, even differed with President John F. Kennedy and Governor Edmund G. Brown.

Key declarations called for a nuclear weapons test ban, abolition of the House committee on un-American activities legislation, arming teachers with the right to strike and a "crash program" of research on birth control methods in the United States.

Delegates ignored Negro pickets—joined briefly by Unruh and other members—who protested alleged discrimination against minorities in the party and in government jobs.

The convention, however, strongly supported Brown's fair housing bill and other measures aimed at racial bias. And they named their first minority members to CDC statewide office since the club movement began in 1954.

Miss Joan Finney of San Francisco, a Negro, was chosen as organizational secretary. Rudolph Rivas, Los Angeles Mexican-American attorney was named controller.

President Tom Carvey, Jr., Los Angeles aeronautics executive and treasurer Alan Parker of Sunnyvale were re-elected. The job of administrative secretary went to Joyce Fadem, a Los Angeles City College instructor. John Dunlap of Napa was elected First Congressional District director.

Delegates urged an immediate and permanent moratorium on testing of nuclear weapons. Opposition to unilateral action in disputes between nations was voted down after Assembly Majority Leader Jerome Waldie (D-Antioch) argued that it implied criticism of President Kennedy's action in the Cuban Crisis.

The resolution favoring a U.S.-Soviet shelter ban and recommending a halt to any new U.S. home preparedness efforts, was adopted over protests that it repudiated the president's Civil Defense program.

Other major policy statements:

Advocated a shorter work week and earlier retirement for workers in industries affected by automation; low-cost housing for the elderly; repeal of the death penalty and the present state loyalty oath, in favor of the "positive oath of allegiance."

When it was all over, Carvey was asked for comment on the CDC feud with Unruh.

"I think the CDC and the concept of volunteer politics unquestionably emerged stronger than I have seen it in many years," he said.

Unruh, while silent, wasn't entirely inactive. He came through the winner in a number of contests of officers of CDC districts. And by one count he actually gained supporters on the council's board of directors.

'FAMILY DOCTORS' OPEN CONVENTION

CHICAGO (UPI) — The annual scientific meeting of the nation's "family doctors" convened today with 110 exhibits, including ones on barbiturate poisoning, children's heart sounds, warts and a typical diet for diabetics before the use of insulin.

Some 4,000 members of the American Academy of General Practice were expected to attend the sessions, which will end Thursday.

An exhibit on lessening the chances of barbiturate poisoning by use of diuretic drugs was shown by Dr. Reuben C. Balagot, of the University of Illinois Department of Anesthesiology.

A diuretic stimulates the production of urine, and promotes the excretion of barbiturates by the kidneys.

Balagot said barbiturates cause death through depression of the respiratory system, the heart and vascular system and by inducing coma. "A diuretic is useful, he said, because barbiturates must be destroyed by the liver and quickly excreted by the kidneys if the patient is to live."

A method of tape-recording children's heart sounds to discover unsuspected cases of congenital and rheumatic heart disease was exhibited by the Public Health Service's heart disease control program.

Physicians play back the sounds and classify them as normal or suspicious. Children with suspected organic heart disease are referred for complete cardiac examination.

Warts are a contagious virus and are on the increase, another exhibit demonstrated.

Drs. Leon Goldman, Donald J. Blaney and William Cohen, of the Cincinnati University Dermatology Department, said the increase may be caused by ignorance that warts are contagious, more frequent physical contact, and lack of resistance to infection.

Goldman said it is not known why some persons get warts, and other do not, nor why warts just go away in some cases.

A diabetic display showed the monotony of mealtimes before insulin became available in 1922.

Meals were moderately generous in proteins and very generous in fats, but contained very few calories, no fruit, sugar or milk and virtually no trace of starch foods.

Vegetables were cooked three times to remove any carbohydrates, and diabetics ate them for breakfast, lunch and dinner "to provide bulk and a sense of fullness."

In an interview at the opening of the meeting, president James D. Murphy, said there is a "marked shortage" of general practitioners. If the shortage continues there will be one for 2,700 Americans by 1970, compared to 1950, when there was one for 1,500, said the Ft. Worth, Texas physician.

3rd Drunk Driving Offense Nets Jail

James Henry Curtin, 31, of 223 Kent Avenue, Kentfield, must spend five days in jail and pay $276 fine for his third drunken driving offense since 1959.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court sentenced him Friday for driving while intoxicated at Irwin Street and Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael last Oct. 3. Curtin had prior offenses in August of 1959 and July of 1960.

The mining town of Jamestown in Tuolumne County was named for George F. James of San Francisco; it has appeared on maps since 1852.

'OH, WHAT A BEAUTIFUL MORNING'

Presses Roar, New York Again Has Its Newspapers

NEW YORK (P) — New York City's 114-day newspaper strike has ended with the roar of high-speed presses and the busy sounds of 19,000 newspaper employees back at work.

A series of labor disputes had shut down the papers for nearly four months and cost the city's economy an estimated $250 million dollars.

News-hungry inhabitants of this news-making city bought up the papers almost as fast as the presses could print them.

Posse Chairman Urges Backing For Trail Bill

Raymond H. Shone of San Rafael, chairman of the Marin Mounted Sheriff's Posse, today urged support of two bills now before the state legislature which would speed development of a state-wide riding and hiking trails system.

The bills, introduced in both the senate and assembly, would make the trails part of the state park system and give the State Department of Parks and Recreation the right of eminent domain, permitting condemnation of land for trails.

Shone is also acting chairman of a riding and hiking trails committee made up of representatives of many interested Marin groups. He said lack of eminent domain powers has hampered development of a state trails system.

Marin County's Sen. John F. McCarthy and Assemblyman William T. Bagley are among sponsors of the bills.

Western Phone Meeting Slated

There is no mention of a merger on the agenda for the annual stockholders meeting of Western Telephone Co., which owns the phone system in Novato, on April 8 and 9 in Los Gatos.

There have been repeated reports that Western will merge with General Telephone Co. Western's stock has climbed along with the mounting reports from $26 a share to $47. In March, stockholders were told that merger negotiations were in progress.

Stockholders will consider a new issue of 10,000 shares of preferred stock, according to the agenda.

ONLY ONE MAN AT RUSSIAN RIVER HAS REDUCED HIS LIFETIME CHECKING CHARGES TO ZERO

But there are hundreds in San Anselmo, Fairfax, Sausalito, Corte Madera, and San Rafael. No doubt the word hasn't yet reached up the coast that Redwood National Bank's bank-by-mail program can assure you a lifetime of charge-free checking. There are no charges whatsoever on personal checking accounts with balances of more than $200.00. Now, with bank-by-mail, you don't even have to leave the homestead to begin charge-free checking. And don't reach for the postage. We pay it. Both ways. It's another way of showing we care about banking in Marin. We've already built the reputation for having the newest banking ideas in the county. And we're only three months old. Pretty soon, the word will reach Stinson and Bolinas. Then slowly along the coast to Point Reyes and Russian River, where our lone man there (we have heard) is already talking about us. It seems you just can't beat service. That's what banking's all about. Write, call, or visit today. You'll see there is a difference between banks. Like, as a starter, no charge . . . . .

Kennedys See Gettysburg Battlefield

GETTYSBURG, Pa., (P) — President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy took advantage of a balmy Sunday to visit the famed battlefield of Gettysburg where the North threw back the greatest offensive of the South a hundred years ago and brought the Civil War to its turning point.

Like other tourists they also peered with interest at a certain white brick and stone residence near the western edge of the battleground—the home of former President and Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The Eisenhowers are vacationing in California.

The Kennedys, their daughter, Caroline, 5, and Undersecretary of the Navy Paul Fay and his wife and children spent the weekend at the presidential hideaway in the Catocin Mountains near Thurmont, Md.

After mass, an auto expedition got under way for Gettysburg, 25 miles away. Kennedy took the wheel of the dark blue convertible and piled most of the party into it. Two of the three Fay youngsters trailed along in a station wagon driven by a Secret Service agent.

By pre-arrangement a stop was made at the edge of the battlefield to pick up Jacob N. Sheads, who teaches American history at Gettysburg High School and serves as part-time ranger-historian for the National Park Service.

Sheds climbed into the front seat with the President and Mrs. Kennedy and guided the tour of the battlefield. They went down the Union lines along Cemetery Ridge on the east, and cut across the valley and turned up the Confederate lines on the west.

Other tourists were out in force and a lot of them got a wave or nod or word of greeting and even an occasional handshake from the president.

Sheds said afterward "Both the chief executive and the First Lady were extremely knowledgeable about the battle."

"He was interested in the human stories and touches," Sheds said, "in what Winston Churchill called the last war between gentlemen."

Dressed in a blue blazer and gray slacks, the chief executive hopped out of the car on a few occasions and the children got out, scampered across fields and stone fences where a century ago, in July, more men were in action and more men died than in any battle on the North American continent.

Kennedy seemed to be especially interested in the "Bloody Angle" the only place Pickett's charge broke through the Union lines and the climactic third day of the battle.

Kennedy also saw such other historic spots as Little Round Top, the southern anchor of the Union lines, the Devil's Den, the Peach Orchard, the Wheatfield, the takeoff point of Pickett's charge. He wound up at Peace Light, which blazes perpetually from Oak Ridge, one of the scenes of action on the first day of the battle.

From there it was a short spin to the Gettysburg airport, where the Kennedys and their guests got into helicopters and whirled back to Camp David in the mountains.

GIRL, 7, PLEADING FOR LITTLE DIRT

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (P) — Catherine O'Connor, a second grader at St. Francis School here, figures she has until the third grade to hit paydirt.

The blonde, blue-eyed 7-year-old has been trying to collect soil samples from the 50 states—but her rate of success seems to indicate that collecting dirt, a natural talent for boys, is hard work for a girl.

As part of a school science project, she wrote chambers of commerce in the largest city in each state for soil samples.

"I just need a little bit. About a tablespoon full," she wrote laboriously—writing is still a new thing with her. Her father, Dr. Gerald A. O'Connor, a physician at St. Joseph Hospital and a professor at the University of Michigan, had 50 copies of the letter made after he saw how much time the first one took.

She got an immediate response—but not much dirt. Letters in reply contained Confederate money from Charlotte, N. C., brochures on gambling in Las Vegas, and living in Minneapolis, letters of sympathy and promotional pamphlets.

Her science project was judged best in her class—despite the fact that it contained soil samples from only 13 states and an explanation for the missing 37.

Five more states have dished up some dirt since, Mrs. O'Connor said.

The biggest response came from Charlotte, where a University of Michigan journalism graduate, Roger E. Honkanen, wrote a story on her request in the Charlotte News.

"The mistake apparently was in writing to big cities," her mother said. "For instance, the Los Angeles chamber sent an official-looking letter saying 'I regretted not having facilities' to comply with her request."

"She wasn't asking for a load of dirt," Mrs. O'Connor added jokingly. Catherine planned to expand her display after all states are heard from. She is thinking of writing Caroline Kennedy for soil from the White House grounds.

The project "was her own idea," Dr. O'Connor said, "and although it was not elaborate, her mother and I felt we should encourage any spark of interest she might show along this line."

Catherine, oldest of six children, loves the publicity.

"I thought I'd never get my name in the paper," she said.

DIRT HARD TO GET—Pretty Catherine O'Connor, 7, a second grader at St. Francis School at Ann Arbor, Mich., holds a sample of soil from her yard. She wants samples from all 50 states, but is having a hard time getting it. (AP Wirephoto)

St. Sylvester's Pastor Fetes 25 Years As Priest

Rev. John P. Tierney, pastor of St. Sylvester's Church, San Rafael, will mark 25 years in the priesthood tomorrow.

Tierney, 51, is a native of San Francisco. He attended St. James School in San Francisco, St. Joseph's College in Mountain View and St. Patrick's Seminary in Menlo Park.

He was ordained April 2, 1938, in St. Mary's Cathedral by Archbishop John J. Mitty.

He served as assistant pastor at Sacred Heart Church, San Jose, until 1940. He was dean of the department of religion at Holy Names College, Oakland, and assistant director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith until 1943. He then served in San Francisco as assistant director of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine until 1949.

He has also served as dean of religion at San Francisco College for Women. Prior to coming to San Rafael in 1961, he was director of the Newman Club at Stanford.

FOUR SEEK SCHOOL POSTS IN SAUSALITO

The four candidates for two vacancies on the Sausalito School District board include an architect, a stockbroker, and two housewives.

The four seeking election on April 16 are:

Robert L. Mayer, stockbroker, of 70 George Lane; Harold L. Sleight, architect, of Coloma Street, and Mrs. Jessie M. Zimmer of 80 Currey Avenue, all of Sausalito, and Mrs. Eva M. Turner, Building C-44, Marin City.

Two incumbents whose terms expire, Mrs. Minnie Sievers and John S. Wellington, are not seeking re-election.

Mayer, 39, a native of Hamilton, Ohio, is a stockbroker with Dempsey Tegeler and Co. in San Francisco. He previously was a real estate broker.

Mayer holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration from Indiana University. He and his wife, Mary Ellen, have three children.

Mayer belongs to the Olympic and Commonwealth clubs of San Francisco, Sausalito Yacht Club, Sierra Club and Audubon Society. During World War II he was an Army Air Force pilot.

Sleight, a native of Valley, Wash., received a master of architecture degree from University of Oregon. He and his wife Joan Katherine, have two children.

Sleight was a captain in the Air Force during World War II. He was awarded three Air Medals while in the central Pacific area.

Mrs. Turner, a native of Shreveport, La., and her husband, Walter B., have three children whose ages range from six to 14.

Mrs. Turner is an ordained deacon of the First Presbyterian Church of Marin City.

Mrs. Zimmer, a native of Wilkeson, Wash., is a former hospital X-ray technician.

Mrs. Zimmer and her husband, Ray, have three children. She is former president of the Sausalito Parent-Teacher Assn., and the League of Women Voters. She is active in Girl Scouts and is Sausalito chairman of the Family Service Agency.

Mrs. Zimmer is secretary of the United Church Women's Assn.

In addition, she has been active in Camp Fire Girls activities, is secretary of the Manzanita Parent-Teachers Assn., mass media chairman of the Tamalpais High School Parent-Teacher Assn. and fellowship chairman of the United Presbyterian Church Women's Assn.

Undersheriff Wesley Gardner was less optimistic about Doreen's chances of turning up.

"There just isn't any place left to look around here," he said.

Two men were sentenced for drunken driving Thursday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court.

Berkley Ward Bowyer, 38, Cotati, drew $220 fine and six months probation. He was arrested on Highway 101 last Feb. 25.

Richard Oscar Cross, 23, of San Francisco must pay $166 fine and remain on six months probation. He was arrested last Sunday at Shoreline Highway and Almonte Boulevard in Tamalpais Valley.

Mary Louise Hanson, 36, of 600 Northern Avenue, Mill Valley, was sentenced Monday by Judge Leonard A. Thomas. She paid $110 fine and is on six months probation. She was arrested last Dec. 20 on Bridge-way in Sausalito.

Washington (UPI)—If you live with a spouse, chances are you are mentally healthier than the person who lives alone.

The National Institute of Health reported today that separated persons sought more treatment in U.S. outpatient psychiatric clinics in 1961 than any other marital group. Then came divorced, single, widowed and married persons, in that order.

Gang Admits Breaking Into Station

Six members of a teen-age gang have admitted breaking into Eberhart's Service Station in Mill Valley March 23 and taking $134 in cash and $150 in green stamps, Police Chief Dan Terzich said today.

Because of the admission, Terzich added, he did not fly to Sparks, Nev. Saturday as he had expected to. The gang was captured in Sparks March 28.

Terzich reported that the $150 in green stamps are being returned to Mill Valley.

The gang is expected to be extradited from Sparks to Portland, Ore., where one of them is charged with shooting a man during a holdup. Other charges against the teen-agers are stealing a car in Amarillo, Tex., purse snatching in Los Angeles, and burglary in Eureka.

Members of the gang are Sidney Nelson, 20, and Bill Nelson, 16, both of Texas; Woody Beggs, 18, Arkansas; Frank Keith, 18, Texas, and sisters Peggy Grant, 16, and Rita Grant, 13, both of Texas.

Fire Hits Restaurant, Patrons Shatter Glass

A fast-breaking kitchen flue fire that made a noise "like a jet plane" was extinguished last night in Marin Joe's restaurant, beside highway 101 by Corte Madera firemen although the place is in county jurisdiction, Chief Frank L. Nelson reported.

Nelson said 18 volunteer firemen in three trucks answered the alarm about 10:40 p.m. and began putting out the fire before someone thought to send an alarm to the county fire department. The fire was out when county firemen arrived.

In the excitement a young patron walked through a plate glass window leading to the patio but apparently was not hurt, said Nelson and Ronnie Bell, cook at the place.

Estimated damage at $300.

San Rafael Thief Taken In Maryland

A San Rafael burglar who walked away from San Quentin Prison's Deadwood Conservation Camp in Siskiyou County was in custody today in Jessup, Md., after eight months of freedom.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady of San Quentin said inmate James Litteral, 36, will be held in Maryland pending extradition proceedings.

Litteral, convicted of a 1960 burglary of a supermarket in Marin County, was put in San Quentin March 3, 1961, to serve a term of six months to 15 years. He escaped from the camp last July 31.

Frady said the notice from Maryland contained no details of Litteral's capture.

A San Rafael burglar who walked away from San Quentin Prison's Deadwood Conservation Camp in Siskiyou County was in custody today in Jessup, Md., after eight months of freedom.

Associate Warden Dale B. Frady of San Quentin said inmate James Litteral, 36, will be held in Maryland pending extradition proceedings.

Litteral, convicted of a 1960 burglary of a supermarket in Marin County, was put in San Quentin March 3, 1961, to serve a term of six months to 15 years. He escaped from the camp last July 31.

Frady said the notice from Maryland contained no details of Litteral's capture.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Sunday Closing Blue Law Adds Burden To Business

We stand by our conviction that in a free enterprise community anyone engaged in a legitimate business, who wants to invest his money—his time and talent to operate on Sunday should be allowed to do so. Any other step would amount to taking away another freedom from the people. And, far too many have already been withdrawn—a further step toward the welfare state. Conversely, the proposed "blue law" will force some firms out of business—put a number of people out of employment.

The false colors under which Sunday closing proponents are flying has been clearly cited by the fact that they profess not to be after supermarkets, drug stores gas stations, real estate offices, news stands or stores selling recreational material.

Why this green light to some stores, and a red light against others? Inconsistent, yes. But, there is nothing new about certain business groups, for selfish reasons, urging government to stay out of business, while asking for the regulation of their competitors.

In the final analysis, the question should be determined on a business basis—if a merchant wants to stay open Sunday — if employees are willing to work Sunday, and if the public wants to patronize them on Sunday, then they should not be arbitrarily restricted.

The religious argument in favor of Sunday closing is nullified when a strong church faction, such as the Seventh Day Adventists oppose Sunday closing. Further, the old argument about business community influencing the Press is again nullified. For, the majority of the leaders of the Marin County business community apparently are in favor of Sunday closing. This newspaper stands pat in strongly opposing another encroachment upon the liberty of a merchant, and against revival of the discredited "blue laws" of a past generation.

Again, we believe that if the question must be determined by the question of whether the public in Marin County wants to have stores open. This, they can, and will, demonstrate by their patronage. For, if the public does not patronize a Marin retail establishment which opens on Sunday, then this firm, obviously, cannot, and will not continue to open on Sunday.

Further, should unforeseen factors ultimately prove such restrictions necessary, the Marin County business community can, and should, adopt an appropriate program of self regulation. For, the splendid records of the American system clearly proves that self-regulation in any situation is preferable, and more effective, than government regulations by the whims of a bureaucrat.

Weatherman Has Many Eager Competitors

Some Marinites make a hobby of the weather. They have rain-gauges and keep records of the rainfall in their particular location. This they compare with similar records kept by friends and with the daily report in the Independent-Journal.

Some also have barometers and hygrometers and wind gauges and try to outguess the United States Weather Bureau. They usually do quite well on immediate forecasting, but lack the weather maps necessary for an educated guess about tomorrow or the next day.

Playing weatherman is fun. We do it. And so do several of our friends. Some people think they are Napoleon. A number think they are Luther Burbank. We think we're the weatherman.

Most of us are harmless.

Women Are Best At Arguments —But All Husbands Know That!

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Women can argue better than men and have an edge over them in getting their own way. Harvard psychologists have found. Many husbands who never went to college have learned this too.

Word has just reached us that in Rhode Island it is illegal to pour pickle juice on a railroad track and that you can't plow cotton with an elephant in Alabama. That's the trouble with our personal liberties—they are being whittled away one by one.

Falls account for about half of all home injuries, and loose rugs are a leading cause.

The nicest thing we've ever heard lately about Texas is that it first introduced canned chili to the United States.

A tongue to greatness: Jesus Christ, whose messages to mankind have been translated everywhere, himself spoke Aramaic, a language which is employed today chiefly by a few thousand Syrians. From the torture of the cross he cried: "Eloi, Eloi, lama sabachthani?" Our translation: "My God, my God, why has Thou forsaken me?"

Some primitive desert people believe the color blue protected them from evil spirits. Modern researchers have found that flies and some other insects avoid areas painted blue.

only an item on the list, and not the most important!"—George Meredith.

John F. Kennedy is the only major naval hero to serve in the White House. Despite our sea heritage, no admiral was ever nominated for the U.S. presidency. On the other hand, 16 men with the Army rank of general were nominated, and 12 were elected.

IN OUR country yesterday's newspaper is used to line a shelf or wrap a wet fish. But a proud claim to fame of New Guinea's "South Pacific Post" is this: The natives pay six pence a pound for old copies because—they like to smoke them!

Stand On Sunday Closing Praised

EDITOR,

Independent-Journal:

Bouquets to you for your outspoken opposition to Senate Bill No. 845. I see no evidence that existing commercial activity on Sunday is threatening the health and welfare of Californians. To many families, including mine, it is a great convenience. We don't want Blue Laws in this state.

Sales On Sunday Held Nonessential

EDITOR,

Independent-Journal:

Your editorial of Thurs., Mar. 14, regarding the Rattigan-Burns Sunday Closing Bill (Senate Bill No. 845) omits consideration of the most logical, consistent purpose of this proposal. Sunday is the Lord's Day, a day of worship and rest. Many of the people who work on Sunday do not do so of their own choosing, but are required to work by employers who must meet the competition of other enterprises open on Sunday. In the majority of cases, Sunday purchases of the "non-essentials" could just as easily be purchases made on Saturday or during evening shopping hours. Keeping the Sabbath Day holy is an obligation more important than the "do-it-yourself" projects you mention. Moreover, Sunday is a family day, not a day at the store (on either side of the county.)

Commuter Service Proposal Lauded

EDITOR,

Independent-Journal:

In view of all the complaining I have done about the Golden Gate Bridge situation, it's only fair that I applaud two positive actions reported in the I-J tonight, (Mar. 26).

1. Supervisor Behr's move for a study on how to improve bus commute service. This is a fine idea. I didn't know Greyhound was losing money on their operation, but I'm not surprised. Incidentally, as a daily user of Greyhound commute service, I think it's good.

2. Governor Brown's urging that plans be made now for two more bay crossings to Marin. It's gratifying that the Governor has supported this needed step.

As you say, "bouquets" to them both, and Greyhound too.

One of the aims of the Marin Conservation League is to support the County sign ordinance and thereby to assist in keeping our highways as free of undesirable signs and billboards as possible.

It is gratifying to the League to report that by means of a simple request we were able to secure the agreement of the Shell Oil Company to replace a nonconforming (rotary) sign on one of its service stations on Highway 101 at Alto. Such cooperation is appreciated and should be commended.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By THERON NEWELL

Property Owners Should Take Pride In Keeping Streets Free Of Debris

NOW THAT the city of Novato has spent time and money using the street maintenance crews to clean up the debris along South Novato Boulevard, one would think that the people would take a little pride in keeping the street that way.

But, that doesn't seem to be the case.

Already the residents of Buchanan street, whose back fences form a wall along the Boulevard, are starting to dump their lawn clippings and other rubbish over their back fences onto the public right of way.

Somehow, I thought it was against the law to dump rubbish on the public property.

AT LAST TUESDAY night's Novato city council meeting, Robert Fredrickson of 1626 Center Road, lambasted the type of representation he gets from the City Council. He felt it was the public duty of the Councilmen to phone him and tell him of the proposed zone changes in the area.

Even more ridiculous was the fact that several of his neighbors applauded his request for the phone calls.

He seemed oblivious to the facts that two newspapers carried stories and advertisements of the zone changes. The one he was referring to was advertised and had news stories printed about it no less than four times.

Can anyone imagine the state of our republic if this request for phoning was actually carried out?

Councilmen would be kept continually busy phoning people telling them of the actions which affected everyone that were scheduled on the council agenda.

In addition, there would be the school board, the directors of the first districts, water districts, sanitary districts and others all phoning people telling them that the boards were contemplating something that might affect them.

THE BOARD of supervisors, county board of education and the county committee on school district reorganization would all come in for their share of phoning, telling everyone what was being decided in their behalf.

The State assemblymen and senators would have a much bigger job, as well as other bodies such as the state highway commission.

When one carries the same projection to the national scale, the number of phone calls involved would be astronomical.

No, it would be impossible to run any government along those lines. The residents of Center Road in Novato who did not follow a year and a half proceedings of the planning commission and city council have no one but themselves to blame for not knowing what was going on.

As we understand a representative government, it is the duty of the representative to make the decisions to the best of his ability in public matters. It is the duty of the electorate to keep informed on the decisions of its elected representatives.

DURING THE showers last Friday afternoon, some mother left her small children in the parked car in front of the Western California Telephone Co. office while she transacted some business. One boy, about four years of age, must have been thirsty, because he got out of the car, got down on his hands and knees and drank from one of the rain pools.

After all—when you're thirsty—you're thirsty.

ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Political Maneuvers Complicate Decisions On Defense Contracts

WASHINGTON—When the Federal government takes $60 billion a year from the pockets of the American taxpayers for defense and space, it is imperative that the country and the Congress accept the integrity of the decisions which are being made as to how and where that money is being spent.

If there is any one arm of the government, more than any other, which has to be as pure as Caesar's wife, above the very suspicion of scandal, free from politics, free from the appearance of politics, free from the smell of politics, it is the Department of Defense.

There is no doubt in my mind that Secretary McNamara and his chief deputy, Roswell Gilpatric, are exercising objective and businesslike judgment in awarding the vast defense contracts regardless of who gets hurt or who gets helped.

But are there no valid suspicions, no circumstances which at times suggest that politics, favoritism, and influence are busily at work?

There are such suspicions, there are such circumstances, and they can well reach a point where they will erode confidence in the integrity of the Defense Department's decision-making.

Secretary McNamara is himself partly to blame.

HOW CAN the Defense Department expect to persuade the country that it is not influenced by politics in letting contracts when it participates in the pernicious practice of giving advance information, mostly to Democratic members of Congress so that they can announce the contracts affecting their states and thus calculatedly create the impression that their political influence brought these government contracts to their constituents?

There is every reason to count McNamara as a man of integrity as well as large ability. But McNamara is recklessly throwing away some of the trust in his integrity by tolerating a practice which deliberately spreads the very impression he is most seeking to avoid.

Sen. Edward Kennedy in Massachusetts and Gov. Edmund Brown in California are not the only Democrats who campaigned last fall on the promise that, with their party in power in Washington, they could "do more for their states."

President Kennedy, himself, set the pattern. In West Virginia, urging the re-election of a Democratic Congressman, the President noted that the state was getting four times as much defense money as it was in 1960. In Pennsylvania, he stressed that prime-contract awards were up 50 per cent and appealed for the election of Democratic gubernatorial candidate Richardson Dillworth so that "this collaboration could continue."

NEITHER MR. KENNEDY nor other Democrats have any patent on this noxious practice of feeding advance news of defense contracts to politicians so they can use the information to misinform their constituents of how influential they are. It is one of the long-standing vices of government.

But it's bad—and getting worse. If Secretary McNamara and others, who have the most say in awarding billions of dollars every year to government contractors, do not put an end to it, they are going to erode the confidence in their integrity, their most precious possession.

The President may be reluctant. The politicians will be annoyed. The most political minded in the White House will be furious. But Mr. McNamara could say, "This must end"—and get away with it. He needs to do so, I believe, if he is to escape a gathering and miasmic mess.

Catholic Priest Asks
End To Index Of Books

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest last night called for his church to abolish its index of prohibited books and its advance censorship of religious books.

Dr. Hans Kung, 39, professor of dogmatic theology at the University of Tuebingen in West Germany, addressed a capacity audience of 8,500 persons at the University of San Francisco, a Jesuit school.

The index of prohibiting books contains such works as Alexander Dumas' "The Three Musketeers," the tracts of philosopher David Hume and the novels of the contemporary French existentialist Jean Paul Sartre.

Dr. Kung said the Roman Catholic church has committed sins against the freedom of man, and to outsiders the church sometimes looks more like a prison than a sanctuary of the spirit.

"Even someone looking at the church from within keeps noticing . . . servility pretending to be obedience, cowardice pretending to be prudence, power politics masking itself as spiritual service," Kung declared.

The powerful fixative the ancient Egyptians used in their perfumes which made the scents last for thousands of years, is still a secret.

San Jose School
Growth On Agenda

Future growth of the San Jose Elementary School District will be discussed at 8 o'clock tonight in the library of the San Jose Intermediate School by representatives of the school district, Novato city councilmen and city planner, Marin County planners and representatives of the developers of large subdivisions in the district.

The meeting has been called so the district's board may plan its school classroom program along with the development of such subdivisions as Bel Marin Keys and additions to Loma Verde and Marin Golf and Country Club Estates, said Supt. Ralph Giovannelli.

A short business meeting will precede the community forum.

Beauty Salon To Aid
Woman Weight Watcher

PALO ALTO (AP) — Inside every fat person there's a thin person screaming to get out.

No one knows this more than Mary Ferguson, 226-pounder from Long Beach.

The pleas of the 128-pound person Mrs. Ferguson hopes to be, have been heard by the True Method Salon in nearby Menlo Park.

Mrs. Ferguson, 36, and her husband arrived at San Francisco International Airport yesterday after her lonely two-week fast in a locked Long Beach hotel room.

During the two weeks, the 5-foot, 2-inch woman dropped 18 pounds with a diet of coffee, tea, bouillon and vitamin pills.

Now Mrs. Ferguson and her husband, Arthur, 45, are enjoying a second honeymoon at a fancy Palo Alto motel as guests of salon owner Connie Bristow.

"I don't know what that crazy weight losing program did to her," Mrs. Bristow said. "So I can't promise how much weight she'll lose. But I'm expecting dramatic results."

Mrs. Ferguson wore a new hairdo and a new dress, size 22½. Her first goal is to become a size 20½ by Easter.

"It'll take about a year," she said about the ultimate goal.

Baron Jailed
In New York

"Baron" Andrew von Salza, who once indicated his intention of building a clinic in San Geronimo Valley in which to practice his egg yolk sex rejuvenation process, was arrested in New York Saturday on a federal warrant charging attempted fraud.

The 57-year-old, self-styled Prussian nobleman is under indictment by a San Francisco grand jury for allegedly bilking six aging clients with phony fertilized egg yolk treatments. He is accused of charging as much as $25,000 for the course.

The New York complaint charges that von Salza induced a "Marjorie Pearson of Califor-nit to go to New York with a certified check for $27,000, with the intent to defraud her.

Von Salza, reportedly Russian born and an illegal immigrant in 1949, was held in lieu of $15,000 bail pending a hearing next month.

When You're Slated To Get It In Neck — Put Off The Evil Day

When you're slated to get it in the neck do you try to get it over with quickly? There's something to be said for putting off the evil day. Maybe the ax will get lost or you'll find some way to wriggle out of your troubles.

Opening lead — ♣ 10

That is the gist of the problem in today's hand, played last month in the annual inter-collegiate Bridge Championships.

SHOULD REALIZE

South should realize that his king of clubs is going to be ruffed, and the only question is how soon. West leads the singleton 10 of clubs, and East wins with the ace. East then returns the queen of clubs. If South grinds his teeth and puts up the king of clubs at the second trick, West ruffs and returns a spade.

DOWN ONE

South must eventually lose a spade trick and another club trick. Down one.

A good declarer can see all of this coming if he looks ahead.

East must have the king of spades for his opening bid, and West will surely switch to spades when he has ruffed a club.

MAKES CONTRACT

South makes the contract if he plays a low club at the second trick. This does not prevent West from ruffing a club; it merely postpones the evil day.

The delay enables South to set up dummy's fifth club.

East leads another club at the third trick, and West ruffs declarer's king. As expected, West shifts to a spade.

ALMANAC

Today is Monday, April 1, the 91st day of 1963 with 274 to follow.

The moon is at first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1853, Cincinnati set a precedent by paying its fire department a regular salary—ordinary firemen $60 a year, lieutenants $100 a year, captains $150 a year and pipemen $365 a year.

In 1945, U.S. armed forces began the invasion of the Island of Okinawa.

A thought for the day—Prince Otto von Bismarck said: "Not by speecifying and counting majorities are the great questions of the time to be solved... but by iron and blood."

'AN INSTITUTION'—Ernie Bellea peers from among suits of clothes hanging from ceiling in his shop on Sausalito's Bridgeway. These, he says, are left from the days when he was in the loan business. Now he does pressing, sells some clothing items. But soon Ernie's "Porthole" will close up shop. (Independent-Journal photo)

Ernie Bellea's Crowded Shop Soon Will Close Forever In Sausalito

By BRUCE COLEMAN

"No wonder it's called the porthole," says Ernie Bellea's right hand assistant, Sally Bates. "There's such a small space with so much hanging above. Some folks say, 'I'm afraid to get in, things might fall on top of me.'"

Inside the establishment at 753 Bridgeway in Sausalito are cans and cans of buttons from Ernie's pressing days, and hundreds of suits of clothes hanging from the ceiling. The latter are from Ernie's loan business days.

Outside are these signs "Men and Girls Fair or Foul Weather Gear," "Work and Dress Gloves," "Hats Cleaned and Blocked," and "U. S. Servicemen's Tailoring. Quick Press?"

The shop is an anomaly in the new Sausalito with its chic dress shops and shiny office buildings nearby.

But, as with some other landmarks in fast-changing Marin, it's days are numbered. The "heart" of the porthole is Ernie and he has decided to retire, to close his business "in the near future."

"My wife is tired of keeping books," he says.

Ernie likes to sit on a sheepskin on a table near the hissing boiler used to run the three pressing machines. He operates the boiler for heat. He wears a beret—brown, blue or green. "Green is my favorite," he says.

"I used to have three press men and three tailors," Ernie said, in addition to a man who came at night to sew leather on jackets for welders working at Marinship. "I still have some leather left we used to patch with."

Bellea has been in some phase of the clothing business for as long as he can remember. He worked five years in Alaska, during the gold rush there, traveling from place to place selling shoes and socks to sourdoughs.

His present shop, the old Ashoff Bakery, is his third Sausalito location. He began across the street from the old Japanese bait shop on Bridgeway, then moved to the corner of Bridgeway and Princess Street.

Mrs. Bates, who has worked for Ernie 19 years, showed us around the shop—the dressing room, ladies' alterations, leather department, the old brick oven of the bakery. The earth is showing in the back of the store. We heard a radio playing by the press machines, another which Ernie said came through the wall from the No Name Bar next door.

"For years I did pressing and tailoring," Ernie reported. Now he meets the wayfarers from around the world, boating and sailing men who come in from up river or from the Pacific.

While we visited, Earl Ammerman entered to telephone for a cab. "Are you still robbing the poor people?" he said jokingly to Ernie.

"Some people won't even come in," Mrs. Bates declared, "figuring they would have to crawl in and crawl out. Tourists come and look in; some buy Japanese robes. We sell a lot of deck shoes and yachting caps."

Upstairs is an apartment. Downstairs is Ernie, sitting on his sheepskin near the hissing boiler. The toes of his shoes are cut out in triangles exposing his toes in his socks. Why?

$100 A Day For Doctors To Be Asked

A request for payment of $100 a day for physicians on call for the Marin County Medical Department will be heard tomorrow by the board of Supervisors.

County medical Director Rafael G. Dufficy Jr. stated in a letter to the board that it has been "increasingly difficult" to fill the on-call positions, which presently pay $300 a month to five doctors.

San Francisco, Dufficy said, pays its emergency doctors $1,100 a month for a 39-hour week. Marin emergency doctors are on call for a 24-hour period once a week in addition to alternating weekend duty.

The emergency physicians handle calls from welfare patients, the county jail, county farm, and juvenile hall. According to Dufficy, one doctor has already turned in his resignation because of insufficient pay for the job.

Although the medical director admitted that $100 a day sounds high, "it actually represents $3.33 an hour," he said.

The board, meeting at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center, will also consider requests for two extra clerks in municipal court and for authorization to sell surplus office furniture, now stored at the old Coleman School, to the City of Novato.

Redwood Editor Wins Contest

Antonia Banducci, editor-in-chief of the Redwood High School newspaper, the Bark, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Banducci of Larkspur, has been named a winner in a national writing contest.

Miss Banducci received a gold key award from Quill and Scroll, organ of a national school journalism society, for an editorial she wrote for the Redwood newspaper. The award makes her eligible for a $500 college scholarship providing she majors in journalism.

The winning editorial was titled "United States, Russia, Cuba, and Redwood High." It was published in the November 16, 1962, issue of the Bark.

Clarinet, Quartet Play Good Mozart

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

An enjoyable program of pleasingly varied selections was offered chamber music lovers last night by the Marin Quartet at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo.

High point of the evening was the Mozart Quintet in A Major with guest artist Philip Fath performing what amounted to a clarinet solo accompanied by the string quartet. This was composed of Mabel Pittenger and Michael Gerling, violinists, Esther Furnas, viola, and Marjorie Imes, cello.

Fath is not only an accomplished virtuoso on the clarinet but a most sensitive and expressive interpreter of the composer's musical language.

Celloist Marjorie Imes, a new member of the quartet this season, is to be complimented on filling a difficult role, that of succeeding Jean Mattos Maguire. Her tone was beautifully smooth and mellow, and she plays with apparently effortless grace.

The quartet as a whole, though it was mostly accompanying the clarinet in this Mozart quintet, sounded in exceptionally good balance, especially in the lovely lyrical allegro and larghetto movements of the Mozart work. Elsewhere balance was not always perfect with the viola tending to be lost at times.

The exotic Spanish rhythms and harmonies of "La Oracion Del Torero" by Joaquin Turina Cesar Cui's Quartet in E Flat which opened the concert, and the closing Mozart quintet. Regrettably there was just the right contrast between small audience.

San Rafael Councilmen To Ask Drain Bids

Call for bids for construction of storm drains at Third Street and Grand Avenue—where water stands in the street during almost every rainstorm — is scheduled for tonight's meeting of the San Rafael City Council.

Civic Center On New Phone Book

Marinites not already familiar with the new Civic Center are going to know it well before the year is over.

A color photo of the structure, one of the late architect Frank Lloyd Wright's last major projects, will be on the cover of the new telephone books distributed this week.

G. C. Davenport, local manager of the Pacific Telephone Co., said 82,500 copies will be distributed between tomorrow and Friday. It is an increase of 6,800 books over last year.

The new directory contains 52,759 listings, an increase of 3,430 over the current year. There are 176 white pages and 400 yellow pages, an increase of 16 in both categories.

Approval of final maps of Madrona subdivision, Glenwood unit 6 subdivision, and Terra Linda unit 19 subdivision will be recommended by the public works department.

Montecito Merchants Assn. seek permission to hold a carnival on the Montecito Center parking lot on June 20.

The council will set a date for hearing Louise V. Walsh's appeal of planning commission denial of a permit to remodel a four-unit apartment building at 1422 Lincoln Avenue for office use.

The council will consider extension of the $200-per-month lease to Richfield Oil Co. of a portion of city-owned property on Francisco Boulevard.

Giants Spend Lost Weekend In Comedy Of Errors

SANTA BARBARA (UPI)—It was a lost weekend for the San Francisco Giants who dropped a pair of one-run battles to Cleveland.

The Giants tried to snap their six-game losing streak here today against the Indians. Four Giant errors handed yesterday's decision to the Tribe, who prevailed 7-6, at San Diego.

The game had hardly got underway when Don Larsen was undone by three errors and Willie Kirkland's double. Chuck Hiller committed two of the bobbles and Jose Pagan one.

Jack Fisher took over for Larsen in the fourth with the score 5-3 Cleveland. Fisher was tough although he gave up a two-run homer to Fred Whitfield that eventually decided it.

For San Francisco, Orlando Cepeda hit for the distance with Willie Mays aboard in the fourth.

Felipe Alou's two-run single sparked a three run blast in the ninth for San Francisco, but a diving grab of Tom Haller's hard smash by Cleveland second baseman Mike De La Hoz quenched Giant hopes.

Saturday night's game found brother battling brother at San Diego.

Jim Perry of Cleveland outlasted baby brother Gaylord of the Giants in a 5-4 contest. Both men went all the way.

Willie McCovey hit two more homers to run his spring total to 10, while Tom Haller also hit for the distance.

The double defeat left San Francisco's record at a miserable 6-16. The two games at San Diego drew better than 13,600 fans.

Meanwhile, the injured Billy Hoelt said that he expects to be throwing within a week.

"I've been going through all the motions," said the southpaw tosser. "No problems. I think I'll be cranking up by Sunday."

It was the brightest report on Hoelt since he injured his shoulder in a fall at Casa Grande.

"It's 100 per cent improved over two weeks ago," Billy said. "It's starting to come around."

What with Mike McCormick gone, only John Pregenzer making it from the rookie crop, and the holdovers getting bombarded—the Giants need the veteran lefty back in a hurry.

HOW DO GIANTS RATE IN 1963?

How do the San Francisco Giants compare with other National League teams?

Can they repeat as pennant winners?

Who is likely to be the first Giant veteran player to slip?

These and other timely observations will be unfolded on the Giants in a series of stories beginning tomorrow. John J. Connolly, the Independent-Journal's baseball columnist, will compare each Giant player with players in a corresponding position on the other clubs.

How does Orlando Cepeda rate with Bill White of St. Louis as a first baseman?

Will Chuck Hiller continue his mad dash and lead the other second basemen to the top?

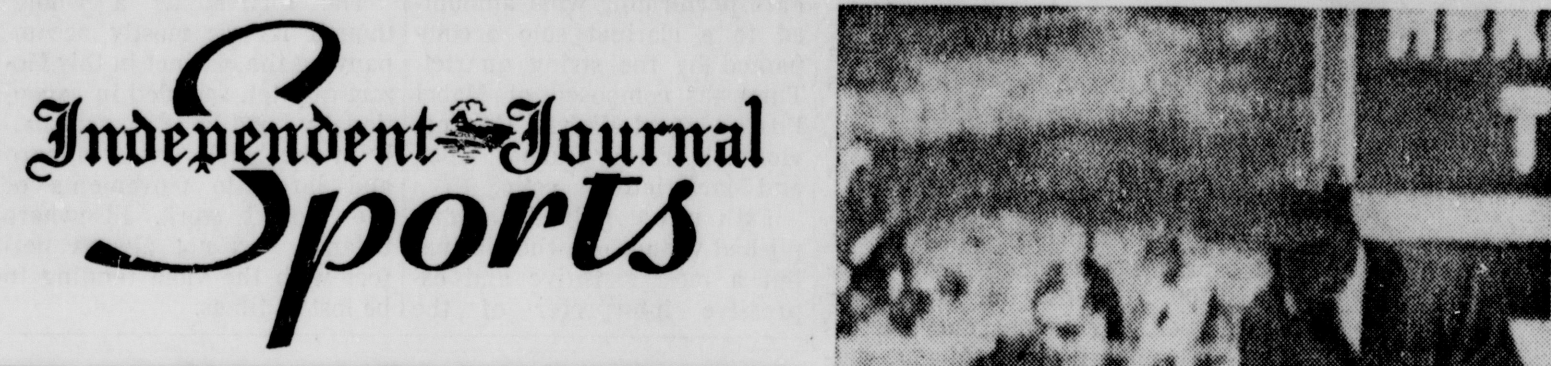

How does Jose Pagan compare with Maury Wills of the Dodgers and other shortstops in the circuit?

Where does Jimmy Davenport rate in the overall picture of third basemen in the National League?

Observations of Connolly, a controversial baseball scribe, might not jibe with the way you think, but they will be straight from the shoulder. He has no axes to grind, no noses to pinch. He is prepared to give you his opinions. He'll even devote a column to Manager Alvin Dark and the job he has on his hands in 1963.

Don't miss this spring training windup by the dean of all Pacific Coast baseball writers.

It starts tomorrow in Connolly's Bullpen column.

Sausalito Defends Bay Yacht Trophy

Winning three of the first four places yesterday, the Sausalito Yacht Club successfully defended its Al Adams and Son perpetual trophy after a series of three races over the weekend in Richardson Bay.

Withstanding a strong westerly wind, Sausalito's Pete Sutter guided his 19-foot Mercury class sloop Gusto to victory in yesterday's final race. John Koenig of the Sausalito club finished third and teammate Jim Enzenperger came home fourth.

Sutter was the key figure for the defenders, taking seconds in the two races Saturday. In defending the trophy, the Sausalito club outscored San Francisco, Cabrillo Beach, Fresno and Sequoia Yacht Clubs. Sutter was assisted by crew member Warwick Tompkins of Mill Valley.

The bid for top honors was a battle between two Sausalito sailmakers, Sutter and Allen (Punky) Mitchell, a member of the San Francisco Yacht Club. Mitchell was the victor in the first race, dropped out in the second because of gear failure, and finished second yesterday.

The lads from Fresno were in strong contention until the final race. Pat Bradley port tacked his own teammate, Holden Bradford, causing Bradford to ram into Bradley's craft. Both had to withdraw.

The final point totals were: Sausalito, 141; Fresno Yacht Club, 96; San Francisco Yacht Club, 94; Sequoia, 86, and Cabrillo Beach.

Long Beach Wins Wheelchair Cage

RANTOUL, Ill. (UPI)—The Long Beach Flying Wheels captured the championship of the National Wheelchair Basketball Tournament for the fourth consecutive time Saturday by defeating the Garden Grove Bears, 49-36.

It was the sixth title in nine years for the Wheels, who placed Earl Gerard and John Cheves on this year's All-American team. Dom Melendez of Garden Grove was also selected for the team.

Marinite To Pony Express Ceremonies

Waddell Smith of San Rafael, president of the National Pony Express Centennial Assn., will be among dignitaries on hand at dedication ceremonies of a four-ton statue of a Pony Express rider and horse at Harrah's, Lake Tahoe.

The 3 p.m. Thursday dedication ceremonies will climax a Pony Express ride from Sacramento to Stateline by 40 riders who plan to make the trip in slightly more than 13 hours. The statue, which stands 22-feet high, was sculptured by Dr. Avar Fairbanks of Salt Lake City, and cast in Italy.

Dundee Means Champ
NEW YORK (UPI)—Three Italian boxers took the Scotch ring name of "Dundee" and became world champions: featherweight and junior lightweight Johnny (Joseph Corrao), welterweight Joe (Samuel Lazzaro) and brother middleweight Vince (Vincent Lazzaro).

EXHIBITION ROUNDUP Bo's In Trouble Again

By Associated Press

Bo Belinsky was a day late and $500 short in getting to the park on time.

As it worked out, maybe he shouldn't have bothered.

The free-wheeling lefty, who faces a fine for being tardy to practice, was pounded for four runs and eight hits and gave up three bases on balls in six innings yesterday.

He was tagged with the loss in the Los Angeles Angels 9-3 defeat by Houston at Palm Springs, Calif. while his current girl friend, actress Mamie Van Doren, and manager Bill Rigney looked on with mixed emotions.

Belinsky, a not-hit pitcher last season who has gained considerable attention for his affection for late hours, faces a fine for being 2½ hours late to a game Saturday. Rigney maintains he hasn't yet decided just how stiff the penalty will be, but sources close to the club said it probably will be $500.

FORD AILING

A continent away, another noted left-hander, the New York Yankees' Whitey Ford, also was having his problems. Ford, the Yanks' ace, was left in Fort Lauderdale for treatment of an ailing pitching arm while the team started a tour of Florida's west coast.

"His shoulder tightened up again after that work Friday," manager Ralph Houk said.

Favorite Advances In Marin Tennis

Whitney Reed of Alameda, top-ranked amateur tennis player in the state, won his first round match yesterday in the Bay Counties tennis championships at the Rafael Racquet Club, San Rafael.

Reed defeated Reynold Wong, 6-1, 6-1 in yesterday's play to feature the opening weekend action. The tournament will continue through next weekend.

GRID PROBE

Players To Talk Today

ATLANTA (UPI)—Attorney General Eugene Cook puts the finishing touches today to an investigation which he said indicates that Wally Butts passed "vital information" to Alabama coach Paul "Bear" Bryant.

Cook said the information could have affected the outcome of last year's Alabama-Georgia football game which Alabama won, 35-0.

Butts was the athletic director at the University of Georgia at the time. He resigned the post in February.

Cook made his investigation under orders from Gov. Carl E. Sanders. The attorney general is to hand his report of the matter over to Sanders tomorrow.

Another investigation is underway in Alabama and testimony is expected to be made today before a legislative investigating committee from several University of Alabama football players.

The Alabama committee is headed by State Rep. Alton Turner, who said that the football players, all seniors, probably will begin testifying to the committee behind closed doors.

VITAL INFORMATION

Cook said it appeared "from the evidence of my investigation plus the polygraph examination that vital and important information was given by Butts to Bryant about the Georgia team before the game."

The statement drew an immediate rebuke from lawyers representing Butts.

Attorney William H. Schroder said Cook was obviously relying on "uncorroborated statements" from questionable witnesses and had not given Butts an opportunity to present his written statement on the accusation.

"Before even waiting to receive the evidence of the principal party . . . Mr. Cook, the impartial investigator, has issued his indictment," Schroder said.

The investigations were the outgrowth of a story in the March 23 issue of the Saturday Evening Post which charged that Butts and Bryant conspired to rig the outcome of last year's game.

The magazine article quoted Atlanta insurance man George Burnett as saying he overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant in which Butts gave Bryant vital information.

DISCUSSED RULES

Both Butts and Bryant have denied the report. They said they discussed possible rules infractions in the telephone conversation.

Burnett took a state-administered lie detector test last Thursday and Cook said the re-

SFYC Makes Challenge For Trophy

San Francisco Yacht Club of Belvedere today formally challenged San Diego Y.C. for a renewal of the historic San Francisco Perpetual Trophy race sometime this summer.

The Belvedere club last night selected Glenn Waterhouse's K-40 class sloop Kay Too to challenge the defending San Diego club champion for the coveted 68-year-old trophy. A race committee of Pat Kirrane, Doug O'Hair and Mike Shea picked the Kay Too following a series of boat-for-boat tests against Dr. Glen Cross' Simba, a sister ship. Kay Too showed a slight overall edge in the eight ocean outings, the committee said.

Veteran skipper Frank "Jake" Wosser will be at the helm of the SFYC challenger, the committee added. Wosser lost the cup last year aboard Dr. Emmett Rixford's Annie Too to San Diego's Choluta after he had won it from Sausalito in 1959 and successfully defended in 1960 and '61.

If San Diego accepts the challenge the classic race will be scheduled at the convenience of the two clubs, probably sometime in July, said a spokesman for the SFYC.

Cal Crew Triumphs In Opening Match

OAKLAND (UPI)—California's varsity crew splashed to a one length victory over Long Beach State Saturday in the Bears' season opener.

The Bears rowed the two miles in 9:50.2. Long Beach was timed in 9:56.0 and Oregon State at 10:14.

San Jose State Tracksters Nip Stanford In 3-Way Meet

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL
C. K. Yang of UCLA pole-vaulted 16-foot 1/2-inch at the Santa Barbara Easter Relays to highlight the busiest weekend in California track and field.

In other meets Saturday Southern California swamped Occidental 102-38 at the Coliseum.

San Jose State won the relay by a few inches to edge Stanford 76-69. Oklahoma also participated in the Stanford meet and in triangular competition, the Indians and Spartans each scored 83 points with Oklahoma only getting 15 points.

At Santa Barbara, Yang competed against a high-powered field that included 16-foot vaulters John Uelses, Dave Tork and George Davies. Uelses was the first man to go 16 feet at last year's Easter Relays.

Seven meet records were broken at Santa Barbara, including a 3:06.2 mile relay by the spectacular Arizona State quartet of John Barriick, Henry Carr, Henry Freeman and Ullis Williams.

The USC-Occidental meet was featured by a javelin toss of 267 feet, 3 inches by Larry Stuart. The throw broke the meet, school and stadium records.

Julio Marin of the Trojans won the mile in 4:04.7 and the two mile in 8:59.2.

Occidental's John McGrath accounted for a goodly share of his team's points with a shot put of 60 feet 4 1/2 inches and a discus throw of 178 feet 2 1/2 inches.

FINE TIMES

There were plenty of fine times at Stanford too. Indian soph Paul Schlicke won the two mile in 9:01.0 after San Jose State's Danny Murphy quit after five laps when his ulcer acted up. Stanford's Harry McCalla won the mile with 4:04.2 and San Jose's Mike Gibeau the 880 with 1:49.7.

But it all came down to the relay where Dwight Middleton of the Spartans held off Stanford's Ken Emanuels in the anchor lap as both teams were clocked in 3:13.

The track was sloppy and muddy at Berkeley, but Beaty outgulled western sprinter Bob Poynter in :09.9 and :21.4 in the sprints.

Celts' Long Reign Appears Finished

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
The long reign of the Boston Celtics as champions of the National Basketball Assn. appeared to be ending.

The Cincinnati Royals beat the Celtics 121-116 last night in what Bob Cousy of Boston had termed "the big game" of the Eastern Division final playoffs.

The victory gave the Royals a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series. To survive, the Celtics now must win three of the four remaining games a rugged task against the fired-up Ohioans.

For six straight years the Celtics have won the Eastern Division title. They have won the championship final playoff the last four years and five of the last six.

LAKERS WIN
The Hawks, hoping to regain the top after finishing out of the playoffs a year ago, opened the Western Division best-of-7 final series yesterday by losing to the Los Angeles Lakers 112-104.

A capacity turnout of 13,909 at Boston Garden saw the Royals, walloped 125-102 at Cincinnati Friday night, turn the tables on the Celtics. A free throw and a basket by Oscar Robertson put the Royals ahead for good in the second period. Boston closed to within 93-91 in the last period on a drive led by rookie John Havlicek, but Robertson, Hub Reed and Adrian Smith pulled the Royals out of danger.

A Los Angeles crowd of 10,086 saw the Lakers take a 45-43 halftime lead on Dick Barnett's basket and a 3-point play by Rudy LaRusso and hold it the rest of the way against St. Louis.

Ex-Bear Jacobs Joins Raiders

Proverb Jacobs, former University of California football star, and Tony Disenczo of Michigan State University, two tackles with professional football experience, have signed 1963 Oakland Raider contracts.

Jacobs, following his fine career at California, was the No. 2 draft choice of the Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League in 1958. After a year with the Eagles, Jacobs was traded to the New York Giants where he played the 1960 season.

The 6-4, 260-pound Oakland native entered the American Football League with the New York Titans in 1961 and played the last two years with that club.

Seals Open Playoff With L.A. Tonight

The San Francisco Seals will try to boost their score over the Los Angeles Blades in tonight's first post-season Western Hockey League playoff game in Los Angeles.

The second place Seals and third place Blades are set for a two-out-of-three series to determine who will meet the Western Hockey League Southern Division leader in Portland.

The Portland Buckeroos will host a best-of-seven series beginning on Sunday.

San Francisco will play its first game in Los Angeles minus the services of standout defenseman Mo Mantha, who was sidelined with a possible cheekbone fracture.

Seals coach Bud Poile said Ray Cyr would take Mantha's spot during tonight's test. Mantha may join the club when the Seals return to San Francisco for their second Blades tilt on Wednesday, Poile said.

Of 16 games played against Los Angeles, the Seals have won 10, lost 5 and tied 1. The Seals record at home is 6-2, and in Los Angeles 4-5-1.

Payton Jordan To Coach U.S. Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stanford track coach Payton Jordan, 46, will coach the United States team which will meet the Russians in Moscow, July 20-21.

In addition to the meet against Russia, the American team will also compete against Poland, West Germany, and Great Britain.

Bert Nelson, editor of the Track and Field News in Los Altos, was chosen head team manager.

Barber Takes Azalea Open By Five Strokes

WILMINGTON, N. C. (UPI)—Affable Jerry Barber had a feeling he would win his third Azalea Open golf tournament, but a news photographer almost spoiled things for him.

"It happened on the 17th hole," said a happy Barber, who strung together five birdies on the back nine yesterday to win the tournament going away with a 14-under-par 274. He won $2,800.

At this juncture, the Los Angeles pro already had a four-stroke lead.

"But one bad shot could have made it a new ball game," he said. "Right in the middle of my swing I heard the camera click. I flinched."

"Luckily the ball went straight. But it could have wound up in a clump of trees or in a creek and I would have been in trouble. It could have blown me right out of the picture."

Billy Maxwell, Doug Ford, Larry Beck, Jack Rule and Bruce Crampton finished in a five-way tie for second place at 279, five strokes behind the diminutive Californian.

Santa Clara Team Leaves Trail Of Shattered Records

CLEVELAND (AP)—The powerful Santa Clara Swim Club left a trail of shattered records behind as it captured the women's national AAU indoor swimming championships.

The Santa Clara mermaids, coached by George Haines, won eight of 13 swimming events in the four-day swimming and diving championships and set five American records, rolling up a total of 113 1/2 points.

Altogether, eight American records were set. And one was equalled.

Santa Clara's closest competition, Los Angeles, had 38 points, and the Dick Smith gym of Phoenix, Ariz., which dominated the diving events, was third with 33.

Standout on the Santa Clara squad was Donna De Varona, a blue-eyed Miss not quite 16 who set three individual American marks and was on two record-setting relay teams — the 400-yard freestyle and 400-yard medley relay teams.

She set records in capturing the 200-yard and 400-yard individual medley in times of 2:15 and 4:47.3.

Oddly enough, the backstroke failed to win the 100-yard backstroke event but apparently her time for that distance will go into the books as a record. Miss De Varona swam the 100 in 1 minute 02.1 seconds, an American record, on the first leg of the 400-yard medley Thursday.

DONNA BEATEN

But yesterday, Nina Harmor of Philadelphia, edged Miss De Varona in the 100-yard backstroke finals, finishing in 1:02.6, also under the recognized American record of 1:03.

Kim Worley put another American record in the books for Santa Clara with a time of 2:15.3 in the 200-yard butterfly. The old record of 2:16.8 was set in 1959 by Becky Collins and was equalled last year by Sharon Finneran of Los Angeles.

Another standout for Santa Clara was Terri Stickles, 16-year-old sister of Indiana great Ted Stickles, who won two titles—the 250-yard and 100-yard freestyle.

Miss Finneran won the 500-yard freestyle in 5:23.4 for an American record and wound up in a tie with Miss De Varona for individual scoring honors. Each had a total of 21 points.

Boys In Vandal Spree Identified

Three boys, 15 and 16, who broke into Mary Silveira School Saturday night and went on a spree of vandalism, have been identified and will clean up the rooms and make restitution, Principal Donald Thieler reported today.

The boys, aged 15 and 16, and their parents have promised to make full restitution, Principal Thieler said.

Windows were broken, and powdered tempera paint had been spread throughout the various rooms. Fire extinguishers had been emptied and some choral music destroyed. Nothing was stolen.

but said he could not state in what capacity he will be associated with it.

The organizing group, consisting of Tijerina, Mrs. James L. Heynemann of Belvedere, Paul R. Leahy of San Rafael, Fred Mantegani of Tiburon and Lawrence Mayer of Mill Valley, is securing stock subscriptions.

Tijerina reported that stock purchase commitments "are going strong" and it is hoped to have a meeting of the subscribers soon, at which time a board of directors will be elected. The bank is expected to be in operation about July 1.

Tomasini, who joined the Petaluma branch of the First National Bank in 1957 (this became the Crocker-Anglo National Bank in 1961), lives in Nicasio. He said he and his family will continue to reside at that location.

'Death Row' Population Grows To 42

San Quentin Prison's record "Death Row" population edged up another notch Saturday with arrival of Edward Louis Arguello, 53, a condemned slayer from San Diego County, Associate Warden Dale B. Frady said today.

Arguello, who brought to 42 the number of inmates awaiting execution at San Quentin, was convicted of murdering an 83-year-old woman who employed him as a part-time handyman. No date is set for his execution.

Meanwhile, Charles James Golston, 21, sentenced from Los Angeles County for strangling a 79-year-old woman in her Long Beach home, has been sentenced to die in the gas chamber May 3.

Golston, who was brought to San Quentin Feb. 7, 1962, had been scheduled to die Jan. 25 of this year, but received a stay of execution Jan. 24 pending the outcome of a petition for a writ of certiorari. The writ was denied.

San Francisco has 79 playgrounds and recreation centers.

Three Hurt In Two-Car Crash On Highway 101

Three persons were injured in a two-car crash on Highway 101 South of the Alto overpass yesterday afternoon as the driver of a third car was changing a blow-out tire in the fast lane of the highway.

The California Highway Patrol reported Warren Russell Harris, 40, a Pacific Gas and Electric Co. right-of-way agent of 252 Elvia Court, San Rafael, hit the rear of the car of Anna Mae Wolverton, 38, clerk, of 14 Gilbert Street, San Rafael, while both were southbound at about 3:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wolverton said she halted because the car of Joel Emanuel Gishkin, 32, of 935B Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, Kentfield, was parked in the fast lane.

Harris and Laura Harris, 37, said they would see their own doctor. Eber Crummy, 66, of Vancouver, B.C., a passenger with them, was treated at Marin General Hospital for face cuts.

Gishkin was cited for driving with unsafe equipment, and for changing the tire in a roadway.

Skilled Greek artisans developed methods of working with clay that made Athens the pottery and ceramic center of the Mediterranean area from the seventh to the fourth century B.C.

NO MORE COMPLEX

U. S. Culture On The Upswing

EDITOR'S NOTE: The United States has shaken off its inferiority complex concerning the arts, and a boom in culture is underway in big towns and small. This is the word of the experts in a series of five dispatches.

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — There are 1,252 symphony orchestras in the United States and last year more persons listened to concerts than attended all the baseball games played in the major and minor leagues.

That is the favorite statistic and statement of persons who proclaim America has come of age in the arts and is enjoying a boom in culture that is only in its infancy. The figures bear them out: the number of books published in this country in 1962 exceeded by 3,000 those of the previous year; little theaters have become almost as common as the county court house; Americans now buy almost $600 million worth of musical instruments and sheet music a year.

SOCIOLOGISTS USE the phrase "cultural explosion" to describe what is happening, but actually it was more gradual than violent. Most experts think Americans, who heard themselves denounced for years as cultural morons, now have shaken off their inferiority complex.

In the process they took a bad beating. H. L. Mencken made a reputation and considerable money by clouting Americans on the head once a month with a magazine called the American Mercury: "The general average of intelligence of knowledge, of competence, self respect . . . is so low that any man who knows his trade, does not fear ghosts and has read 50 good books stands out as brilliantly as a wart on the head."

EUROPEANS JEERED at the American savages when Henry James decided his native climate was unsuitable to creative effort and went to London and took out British citizenship. British authors were held in such high esteem by the brow-beaten Americans that Charles Dickens made a killing on a lecture tour here and went home to tell jokes about the people who paid to hear him.

OVER THE YEARS American workers in the arts became discouraged and a belief grew up that they would be better off if they acted like foreigners. Miss Lucy Hickenlooper, a talented pianist in Texas, was going nowhere with her career, but when she changed her name to Olga Samaroff things picked up immediately.

Ernest Hemingway decided he could write better in Paris and Havana than he could on American soil. In the twenties young writers flocked to Paris to sit at the feet of Miss Gertrude Stein, who had shaken the dust of Pennsylvania from her shoes but still wanted American to buy her books and acknowledged that she was saying something profound when she wrote "A rose is a rose is a rose," and "Pigeons on the grass, alas."

THE CULTURAL inferiority complex of Americans became more traumatic when they received a one-two punch in 1920 and 1922 from Sinclair Lewis with his novels "Main Street" and "Babbitt." One of them depicted the American small town as a cultural wasteland where the inhabitants talked about nothing except crops and the weather. "Babbitt" was an indictment of the American business man as a dull fellow who did nothing but chase money and boost his home town.

The big depression of 1929 changed things, and the circulation of Mencken's magazine dropped sharply.

Americans were at grips with problems larger than small town culture and home town boosting. John Steinbeck's novel "The Grapes of Wrath" caught the mood of the day.

Knee Ticklers And 'Jambudas' Tickle Tomboys In Texas

By GAY PAULY

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — The warm climate of the southwest helped to turn the cool shirt-waist cotton dress into an American classic. Now, it's doing the same for pants, which appear in the new summer collections from Texas manufacturers in as many variations as there are tall stories in these parts.

One manufacturer participating in the 13th annual "press week" sponsored for visiting reporters by the Texas Fashion Creators Assn., said she was making feminine trousers in 15 variations from the short short to ankle length, with something called the "Jambuda" in between. The last was manufacturer Rose Sinkin's name for shorts at mid-thigh length, somewhere between the Jamaica and Bermuda lengths.

Mrs. Sinkin, president of Fem Form of San Antonio, specializes in pants and culottes and said she sells between 100,000 and 125,000 pairs of trousers yearly.

SHE ADVOCATED a wardrobe of trousers for the woman "Pants Wearer," the same way a white collar girl or traveler assembles office or travel wardrobe. "The pants wearer will own from eight to 10 pairs for every occasion from golfing to a sort of cocktailing," she said.

Newest in the divided skirt line is the "Knee Tickler," as some manufacturers call this culotte which ends two to three inches above the knee. It's popular with the high school and college set and, combined with black saddle shoes or loafers, has become practically a uniform on some campuses.

TO TOP these numerous trouser or culotte variations in collections shown yesterday were shirt blouses in bold prints or polka dots, designed to be worn tucked in at the waist or left on the outside.

Many of the tops were nautical in nature, with middie collars and sailor ties at the front.

THE LONG, tunic overblouse also was a favorite topping—the pullover making a comeback, as a spokesman for Jo Hardin Originals said, "with the death of the bouffant hairdo. The girls had simply refused to pull blouses over those big heads of hair."

A VERTICAL split level sheath of black and white was one of the outstanding fashions of the annual press week sponsored by the Texas Fashions Creators Assn. The dress designed by Lorch manufacturers. (UPI Telephoto)

New Flower Pot
A new type of flower pot permits the green thumb to leave plants without watering for as long as 30 days. The manufacturer said the flower pot, a square job of marbelized plastic, is seven by four by three inches in size and holds one pint of soil. The secret of its design is in its hollow walls and base, which will hold as much as one month's supply of water, depending on the need of the plant. Filling is through a re-closeable inlet at the top. The flow of water is vacuum-controlled.

She's Deadlier
Among mosquitoes, the female is deadlier than the male. A report in "Medical Science," a journal for researchers, states that male mosquitoes live on plant juices alone; females also feed on these juices but in addition require mammalian or avian blood.

Use Button Front Pattern To Make Buttonless Jacket

By EUNICE FARMER

"I am making a cardigan type jacket without buttons at the front. When I try it on the fronts overlap and don't look the way the picture shows on the pattern envelope. What am I doing wrong?"—Mrs. K.M. Dear Mrs. K.M.:

If you are using a pattern that shows a front closing with buttons and buttonholes for a jacket that you don't want to lap at the center front, you will have to alter the pattern slightly, as illustrated.

Fold your pattern on the center front line and add 5/8 of an inch for the front seamline.

Cut the front facing the same way, sketch (a).
If you want to cut the facing in one with the jacket front to eliminate the seam, outline the jacket with chalk, then flip the pattern over at the center front, continue to mark neckline, continue to half the shoulder width, tapering a 4-inch width at hemline.

Mrs. P.M. says:
"I can't hold back a chuckle when I read about the mistakes others have made and written about because I realize I have not cornered the market—ah, experience! Take an extra minute to shrink all hem tape before using to avoid a 'drawn' or tight look on facings or hems. The easiest way to shrink tape is to wet it while it is still folded on the cardboard and let it dry— presto, ready for use!"

"So many patterns tell you to duck-track the lapels and collar but don't tell you how far to go. How can you tell just where the collar and lapels will roll?"—Mrs. D.J.
Dear Mrs. D.J.:
Baste the under-collar to your suit. Pin your suit or coat together at the center front. You will find the lapels and collar will roll in a natural position. This is the time to decide if you want to make the top button higher or lower. Then pin your garment together at the top button. Your roll line begins just above the top button. Place pins along the neckline where the collar rolls; this line should be continuous from the lapel to the collar. Be sure both fronts are identical.

Now it's a blanket and bed-spread in one. The bed cover can be used as a spread by day, as a lightweight blanket during sleeping hours. It comes in white, red, yellow, sand, green, wedgewood blue, plus deep tones of avocado, cornflower, curry, rose and cinnamon.

them to the side seams as well as front and back. You won't have to worry about rust spots that might appear if you use metal weights you know nothing about."

(Incidentally, nickels make excellent weights for cow necklines, too.)
To Mrs. Isabelle LeClair, Syracuse, N.Y., goes a tailor trix pressing board for this suggestion of the week.

"Some patterns tell us to slash the darts open and press them flat and others make no mention of this. When is the correct time to open darts?"—Mrs. M.M.

Dear Mrs. M.M.:
Usually the only time darts are slashed and pressed open is on the inside of jackets and coats. The thickness of the fabric would determine this. Cut these darts open to within about 1/2-inch of the end (use caution on fabrics that ravel easily) and press flat. This is especially important when you have under-lined your garment and have double layers of fabric.

Darts are seldom slashed on skirts unless they are very heavy. In this case, don't slash them quite so close to the end of the darts, press open, and then catch-stitch the edges flat to the skirt lining. It is very important to do a thorough job of pressing during construction, especially on jackets and coats, since the presser cannot get under the lining to do this later.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY
Duck-track: This means to make tiny, diagonal stitches in lapels and under-collars to make them roll and to keep the interfacing from separating from the garment fabric. These stitches should barely prick the fabric so you will avoid stitches showing through your garment.

Have to put cuffs on a pair of slacks and don't know how? There's help for you in Eunice Farmer's free leaflet, "Cuffing Slacks." It's yours free if you'll send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer, in care of the Independent-Journal.

CHILDREN'S PLAY OPENS ON SATURDAY

Junior Theatre of Marin will present "Storybook Circus" performed by Children's Theatre of the West on Saturday at San Rafael High School. Performances are at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., with tickets available at the door.

The play is the fourth in Junior Theatre's season of carefully selected shows for children of the county.

Safety Steps Help Keep Eyes Right

CHICAGO (UPI)—The American Medical Association (AMA) says most of the half a million eye accidents suffered by Americans every year are preventable.

Eye accidents are a particular threat to youngsters, said the AMA, and careful training in the danger of pointed sticks, BB-guns, bows and arrows and fireworks are a must in every family.

Selecting toys that are safe for the age of the child is one common sense method parents can use to prevent accidents.

If a child wears glasses, inquire about protective safety lenses.

The AMA said visual care should begin in the pre-school years, when many eye defects still can be corrected. Regular eye examinations are essential since a child's vision changes.

Rose Resnick, founder and former executive director of Enchanted Hills Camp for the Blind, currently executive director of California League for the Handicapped, will speak at the Tamalpais Centre Women's Club at the club house Friday at 2 p.m. Mrs. Resnick's topic will be "The Human Potential."

The executive board meeting will be held at 11 a.m. and the business meeting will convene at 1 p.m. The nominating committee will present a slate of officers for the coming year.

After the program tea will be served under the chairmanship of Mrs. Le Roi Dowdell, assisted by Mesdames Thomas W. Peryam, Glen R. Gall, Arthur T. Roth and Harry C. F. Calkins. Mesdames Emile Reillac and Thomas Pring will pour tea.

ARE YOUR READY?

Spring is here again! Tra-la, tra-la... Let's go places and do things, boys and girls. But before we do, let's check our wardrobes to see if everything is in readiness for action. That means gathering up an armload of outdoor duds and rambling down to the Miracle Norge Village to "freshen them up," doesn't it? Why there? Because that's the place to go for quality self-service and low-cost custom dry cleaning service—best in Marin County. Be seeing you soon!

New Column Is Replacing Dr. Barbour

Dr. Richmond Barbour has announced the discontinuance of his column, "The Parents' Corner," which has appeared daily in the Independent-Journal for more than 15 years.

A health condition involving a serious problem with his eyesight has caused Dr. Barbour, a guidance counselor for the San Diego schools, to discontinue some of his activities.

BEGINNING TODAY the Independent-Journal will replace Dr. Barbour's column with "The Family Council," a feature describing the decisions reached by a group of advisers who gather to discuss problems met by families in everyday life.

"The Family Council" was created to fill a need for authentic professional advice on family matters. It is intended as a serious attempt to help readers solve some of the problems they face.

The council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, a newspaper editor, a women's editor, a writer and a supervising editor.

The problems discussed by the council cover a broader scope than those featured by Dr. Barbour, who concentrated on the rearing of healthy, sound children. The council will discuss problems concerning the entire family.

Dr. Barbour's column was first sponsored by the California Congress of Parents and Teachers. Dr. Barbour later affiliated with General Features Corp. His column has run daily in the Independent-Journal for more than 15 years, longer than that of any other syndicated columnist.

"THE FAMILY Council" meets to discuss problems common to families throughout the country. "The Family Council," is a new Independent-Journal feature today. From left are Capt. Joshua Goldberg, Chaplain, U. S. Navy; Paul Tierney, editor, Long Island Star-Journal; Edward Gottlieb, managing editor, Long Island Press; Dr. Harry La Burt, psychiatrist and director of Creedmore State Hospital; Philip Hochstein, editor, Newark Star-Ledger; Dr. Howard Harper, executive director of Presiding Bishops Committee on Laymen's Work, and S. George Little, executive editor, General Features Corp.

Child With Invisible Friends Should Know They're Imaginary

MRS. E. V. — Joanie Y. is like that fellow in "Harvey" who sees things that aren't there. And she insists she's right no matter how clearly you prove she's making things up. We're her neighbors and it is baffling to have her look straight at us while talking to an owl up in a tree behind us. There's no tree behind us, just a brick wall of our house. Her talk is real creepy.

MRS. J. Y. — We don't want to crush Joanie's flow of pure fancy just because Mrs. V. and her family can't play along with the child. She amuses herself for hours with imaginary playmates, so she's never lonesome. We're not worried about her. She's only five and I've been told she'll put this sort of make-believe into her reading and writing when she's older. I'm sure she knows it's all "pretend" talk when she asks us not to sit on her "giant."

THE COUNCIL: Shades of Wonderland, Never-Never-

Land, and Oz. It's quite all right for a child to summon imaginary companions as long as he knows, and shows he knows, they're imaginary. Otherwise the other-world jargon may be the rumblings of hallucinatory behavior, which is what Mrs. V. is really concerned about. Joanie may well drop her elaborate fabrications as the real world becomes more approachable and malleable for her. But even if she clings to some fantasy-making, en route to creative self-expression through one of the arts, she must always be brought back to the vital starting-tape: Reality. The healthy Pretender, Mrs. Y., must also be a Contender—like the rest of us.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Family Council consists of a judge, a psychiatrist, three clergymen, and four editors. Each article is a summary of a family disagreement presented to the council, which deals with prob-lemounted by guidance counselors, major and minor, en-lors and social workers.

New Summer Camp Opens To Marin Camp Fire Girls

Marin County Camp Fire Girls planning camping this summer will have an opportunity to attend Camp Caniya, now that the San Francisco and San Mateo merger forming the Golden Gate Council of Camp Fire is official. Registration opened today at San Francisco Camp Fire headquarters.

This 26 acre camp is located in the Sierra Buttes recreation area below Yuba pass and above Sierra City. The campsite was started in 1948, and with yearly improvement the capacity at present is 175 girls for each of the three sessions.

The girls will learn about nature, go on overnight hikes, swim in the heated pool, pan for gold, fish in the streams, work on camp craft and outdoor honors.

Applications are sent to Camp Fire Girls, Golden Gate Council, 325 Arguello Boulevard, San Francisco. Session I June 28-July 11; Session II July 15-July 28; Session III July 31-Aug. 13.

Blue Birds who have passed their 8th birthday by camp time and have been in active membership for 1 year are eligible to attend Caniya too.

Cap Styles Growing

The assortment of beach cap styles rapidly is getting as wide as the number of bathing suit types. Even the pillbox, in high fashion colors, is new for '63 bathing beauties.

It's flat on top with a band of waterproof flowers. Other cap styles include the aloha, with pineapple motif; the gam-in, a modified shaggy boy-cut look; and the ondine, copied from the water sylph.

Strings Attached

Newest gimmick in swirling skirts comes from the Italian designer, Lancetta of Milan. The designer transformed a simple strapless sheath dress with an "overskirt" — roses falling in clusters from strings attached to the belt.

Reading Helps Stretch Dollar

NEW YORK (UPI)—If housewives juggling family food funds want to get their money's worth, they should read—and heed—the labels on canned and packaged groceries.

Of the 8,000 items found in today's supermarkets, most are packaged or processed in some degree.

Since labels are a clue to the contents, shoppers should read them, "to make better use of the food dollar," advised Judith Siegel, a home economist in marketing with the New York State Extension Service. FOOD PACKAGES offer many useful features, such as convenience, protection from handling and contamination, and often at a saving in cost.

Labels of the 1890's and 1900's had little information to guide the shopper. Early labels merely told the name of the product and often had pictures, and phrases of glamorous appeal, but contained few specific facts.

TODAY, FEDERAL law gov-erns and regulates food labels.

Under the Food, Drug and Cos-metic Act, all foods sold, or shipped across state lines, must list specific information.

They must show the common or usual name of the product; name and address of the man-ufacturer, packer or shipper; an accurate statement of qual-ity contents in terms of weight, measure, or numeral count. Al-so, a list of ingredients where two or more foods go into a product that is NOT standard-ized.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Lay Preventive Medicine Might Help Spot Cancer Early Enough

Lay participation in preventive medicine has furthered medical progress in various ways. One example is the cooperation of parents in the immunization of infants against the contagious diseases for which there are vaccines. Another way is to take advantage of the mobile chest X-ray units. Still another is the annual physical checkup by the family physician.

Another illustration of what the lay person is doing to keep well is self-examination of the breasts for tumors. Survival from malignancies depends upon early detection and treatment, and it is here that each woman must be her own detective.

THE AMERICAN Cancer Society estimates that 64,000 women develop breast cancer annually; and that 25,000 will die of the disease this year. Breast cancer remains the leading cause of death in women between the ages of 40 and 60.

Why this grim picture if self-examination is so popular? According to Dr. C. D. Haagensen, some women are not breast conscious and a tumor is not discovered until it is six to 12 months old. The average delay in finding a lump, or in seeking treatment after it is detected is nine months. The alert woman finds the lesion sooner than the uninstructed; and the sensible woman seeks treatment at once.

IT IS HEARTBRACING to a physician to detect a large mass and have the woman say, "Oh, yes, I noticed that lump several months ago but didn't think it amounted to anything." She didn't realize that cure is possible in 82 per cent of breast cancers when they are detected early, while still localized.

Every woman ought to examine the breasts once a month for possible irregularities or lumps, and consult a physician at once if an abnormality is found. Not all growths are malignant but all should be investigated. In addition, have a physical checkup once a year, including examination of the breasts by the physician.

April is cancer-control month and the layman can do his bit. Give generously to the crusade. Life is being prolonged in victims of this disease but we have a long way to go.

(DR. Van Dellen will send leaflet on self-examination of the breasts if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

DOUBLE DOSAGE

Mrs. B. writes: My husband isn't often ill but when he does get sick, he's in a hurry to get well. He says if one pill is good, two are better. I worry about overdosage and would like something definite to show him.

REPLY

Your husband's line of reasoning was popular at the turn of the century. Our modern drugs are prescribed in the dosage that is most effective. Many products are too powerful to double the dosage and the side reactions are more likely to lengthen than hasten convalescence.

REPAIR MATERIAL

B. J. writes: What becomes of the mesh used to repair a broken down hernia?

REPLY

The metal disintegrates to a certain extent but the part that remains becomes completely surrounded by scar tissue. It shows up under X-rays and might make a good conductor of electricity.

TISSUE DEATH

W. K. writes: How does gangrene develop?

REPLY

Gangrene refers to the death of tissue, usually from lack of blood. Arteriosclerosis, blood clots, Burger's disease, and frostbite are common causes of gangrene of the extremities.

HEAT FOR ARTHRITIS

J. B. writes: Is dry heat good or bad for arthritis?

REPLY

Good heat — whether dry or moist — is the important factor.

Today's Health Hint—Keep traffic lanes in the home clear of toys and other objects.

CHICAGO (UPI)—The world's busiest airport, Chicago's O'Hare International, is an immense jet age layout that has become almost a city in itself.

When President John F. Kennedy attended dedication ceremonies he found a sprawling 7,200-acre installation that serves 13 and one-half million passengers a year and handles nearly a flight a minute on the average. Located 21 miles northwest of downtown Chicago, the airport has parking facilities for 5,700 cars and can feed 1,500 persons at a time in its biggest restaurant.

It represents a 200-million-dollar investment.

Once a cornfield and part of a golf course, it was the site of a Douglas Aircraft Corp. plant in World War II. After the war, the facility was turned over to Chicago, and the factory and administration buildings were converted into terminal facilities.

With more than 400,000 flights last year, O'Hare surpassed New York's Idlewild Airport traffic of 11,510,390 passengers and 290,133 flights.

The present development—two new terminal buildings and a five-million-dollar glass-steel circular restaurant featuring a seven-continent dining room—was financed by 149-million-dollar bonds of revenue bonds.

The terminal buildings, each 750 feet long and 110 feet wide, were built at a cost of 35-million-dollars. They are connected to six 800-feet concourses with 58 plane gates.

Subsequently, funds from state, federal and revenue bond sources were used to expand the airport.

O'Hare has become an air crossroads of the world. Non-stop service is provided to many foreign cities. Seven foreign airlines and 14 domestic airlines use its facilities.

The present development—two new terminal buildings and a five-million-dollar glass-steel circular restaurant featuring a seven-continent dining room—was financed by 149-million-dollar bonds of revenue bonds.

The terminal buildings, each 750 feet long and 110 feet wide, were built at a cost of 35-million-dollars. They are connected to six 800-feet concourses with 58 plane gates.

Subsequently, funds from state, federal and revenue bond sources were used to expand the airport.

O'Hare has become an air crossroads of the world. Non-stop service is provided to many foreign cities. Seven foreign airlines and 14 domestic airlines use its facilities.

With more than 400,000 flights last year, O'Hare surpassed New York's Idlewild Airport traffic of 11,510,390 passengers and 290,133 flights.

O'Hare Airport Is World's Busiest

CHICAGO (UPI)—The world's busiest airport, Chicago's O'Hare International, is an immense jet age layout that has become almost a city in itself.

When President John F. Kennedy attended dedication ceremonies he found a sprawling 7,200-acre installation that serves 13 and one-half million passengers a year and handles nearly a flight a minute on the average. Located 21 miles northwest of downtown Chicago, the airport has parking facilities for 5,700 cars and can feed 1,500 persons at a time in its biggest restaurant.

It represents a 200-million-dollar investment.

Once a cornfield and part of a golf course, it was the site of a Douglas Aircraft Corp. plant in World War II. After the war, the facility was turned over to Chicago, and the factory and administration buildings were converted into terminal facilities.

With more than 400,000 flights last year, O'Hare surpassed New York's Idlewild Airport traffic of 11,510,390 passengers and 290,133 flights.

The arm-like concourses have highly mobile enclosed ramps called jetties which reach out to airliners and telescope away when not needed.

O'Hare was named for Edward H. (Butch) O'Hare, a World War II hero.

Named by President Franklin D. Roosevelt one of the greatest combat fliers in aviation history, O'Hare shot down five Japanese bombers and damaged a sixth in single-handed action over the Pacific, Feb. 20, 1942, saving his carrier. He received the Medal of Honor from President Roosevelt. O'Hare disappeared in night action over the Pacific Dec. 10, 1943.

O'Hare was the son of a Chicago race track operator, Edward J. O'Hare, who was shot in gangland style on a Chicago street in 1939.

Although Butch O'Hare was born in St. Louis, Mo., Chicago, adopted him.

The Chicago commissioner of aviation, William E. Downes Jr., said O'Hare already has handled more freight and passengers than was forecast by planning engineers for 1965.

Scheduled for completion this year are the remodeling and expansion of the old O'Hare terminal building, completed in 1955. It will become the international building for handling of foreign traffic and U.S. customs.

O'Hare's air traffic control utilizes every conceivable electronic device in aviation, including radar. O'Hare controls air traffic for three other airports — Meigs on the lakefront, Glenview Naval Air Station and Midway on Chicago's southwest side.

Midway now serves general aviation and nonscheduled flights. Its current 100,000 operations a year are less than 22 per cent of its former load.

Scientists Wondering If Alcoholic Fathers Pass It Down To Sons

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK (UPI)—Psychological science has had a look at sons of alcoholic fathers to find out if "the alcoholic personality" is transmitted from generation to generation.

The tentative and suggestive answer was that it is transmitted. But the investigator, Dr. H. Aronson of University of Maryland in Baltimore, advised against any unrestrained conclusion-jumping.

For one thing, psychological scientists are not in agreement that there is such a thing as "the alcoholic personality" although most of them who have studied the alcoholic agree there is.

For another thing, you can't tell which boys between the ages of eight and 13 are going to become adult alcoholics although it is an established fact that many male alcoholics had alcoholic fathers.

From the many psychological studies of male alcoholics, Aronson drew up a list of most frequently noticed personality traits. These numbered six, as follows:

"Acquisitiveness, inappropriate emotional expression, dependency, manipulation, evasion of unpleasantness and self-dissatisfaction."

By "acquisitiveness" is meant "the alcoholic's characteristic desire to receive both emotionally and materially from those about him," Aronson said. Inappropriate emotional response covers the alcoholic's emotional immaturity — his impulsiveness and excessiveness to emotional stress.

By "manipulative" Aronson referred to the many psychological studies which found the alcoholic was a charmer who uses his charm "as an indirect means by which he is able to influence and control those about him."

From these traits Aronson devised a lengthy questionnaire. The questions were so chosen that a psychologically untrained person couldn't tell what they were getting at. To conceal further the subject was alcoholism Aronson labeled the questionnaire "study of variability and strength of personality traits in the preadolescent child."

This questionnaire went to 24 elementary school teachers. Each one had the son of an alcoholic in her classroom although she didn't necessarily know it. The boys were secretly identified through social agencies which had worked with the drink-disrupted families.

Each teacher judged the personality traits of her boys on the basis of the tricky questions. When Aronson got the questionnaires back he analyzed the answers by the statistical techniques generally used to produce the scientifically "significant" answer.

The answers suggested the sons of alcoholic fathers had four of the six traits of the so-called "alcoholic personality." The two they didn't have, according to this statistical calculating, were personal charm and a basic emotional dependency or passivity. These, as Aronson remarked, could de-

Marin City Girl Admits Lie In Part In Blaze

A Marin City girl has admitted she lied about a Feb. 4 fire in a four-bedroom apartment at 251 Drake Avenue, according to Sheriff's Inspector Marco Melovich.

Melovich reported that he interviewed Mrs. Dorothy Jones and her 13-year-old daughter, and that the girl had admitted that three girl friends had been smoking in the bedroom where the fire broke out.

Mrs. Jones previously had told investigators that some boys had thrown matches or a cigarette through a window, igniting the couch.

The girl denied knowing the origin of a subsequent fire on Feb. 19 which gutted the apartment and forced Mrs. Jones and six children to move to her mother's home, Melovich said.

She also said she knew nothing about several reported fires in garbage chutes in the same building.

STOP, THIEF!

Owner tired of mulching plants, fertilizing lawn, cleaning garage. All those roses to cut! Made the mistake of putting in new carpeting recently, too. 4 Bdrms. house too big for one person, anyway. Some quick lucky buyer will find good terms! Will sell all for $23,000.00.

ANYONE FOR BLISTERS?

You can blister while dissipating your energy in the garden, or simply by falling asleep in the sun. Or better still, break out the binoculars and enjoy watching others from this knoll. The large 4 Bdrms. house will give you more information if we were not suffering from spring fever. Oh yes, the price—a reasonable $31,800.00.

DOMINICAN

Perhaps the last time you will find a top quality 3 bedroom, 2 bath home on a beautiful large lot in the heart of the Dominican area at this low price. Vacant. Ready to move in. The extra—a large fam. rm., L.R., and dining area. Easy walking distance to schools. Financing is easy, house in excellent condition and so is the neighborhood. Only $35,500.00.

FOR LUXURY LIVING

A luxurious home in a modern Oriental mood—4 bdrms., 3 baths plus many added features, including outstanding lighting, separate dressing room, intercom, built-in barbecue plus two fireplaces, etc. Only 30 minutes from San Francisco in a valley beautifully by the trees and lakes. $48,500.00 (WILL TAKE TRADE).

NEW OFFICE BUILDING PROPOSED

Construction on this 1,600-square foot building at 1108 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael, will be started this month by R. E. Nolan and Son, Inc. Designed by Thompson and Hayes, plans call for concrete block and tilt-up construction, space for two office suites and undercover parking. Building engineers are Lockton-Futscher, Inc. The owner and developer is F and S Properties, San Rafael. Completion is expected in mid-June.

Educational Television In Marin Will Be Discussed

Use of educational television in Marin schools will be described at the meeting of the Marin County Board of Education at 8 p.m. today in the Civic Center.

Charles J. Vento, audio-visual services coordinator, will report on a survey of county schools regarding the materials presented by television station KQED and the extent to which schools incorporate television programs in class work.

Cander Drive Kick-Off

County Chairman S. N. Smiley and past chairman Dr. John H. Manwaring represented Marin at the kick-off luncheon of 1963 crusade for the American Cancer Society in San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel Thursday.

The county board will continue discussion of the county school service fund and special education fund budgets.

Reports will also be heard on proposed extensions of the federal National Defense Education Act, and plans for public school week, April 22-26, will be discussed.

San Rafael Chief Candidate To Talk

The San Rafael Junior Chamber of Commerce will hold a one-man forum for police chief candidates Thursday night at Franchini's Chateau restaurant. President Edward Wachsman announced.

All three candidates were invited, said Wachsman, but only contender Nick Giampoli accepted. Incumbent Charles J. Chiesa and Leonard Thomas declined.

Giampoli will speak following the 7 p.m. dinner. The public is invited to attend, Wachsman said.

Sherman Clay To Open Store In San Rafael

A new store will be opened in San Rafael at 1029 C Street by Sherman Clay and Co., it was announced today by Donald Ravitsch, president of the firm.

The store will sell the full line of musical instruments and equipment carried by the company. Heretofore a small store handling only organs and pianos has been maintained at 963 Grand Avenue.

Theodore M. Lilienthal, assistant general manager of the firm and a resident of Sleepy Hollow, will supervise opening of the new quarters. Lilienthal said the official opening will be on April 15 to coincide with Sherman Clay's 93rd anniversary celebration.

Besides Hammond organs and Steinway pianos, he said, other pianos by Chickering, Steck, Everett and Cable-Nelson will be sold, also Fisher stereo-radio phonographs, major lines of television sets, small radios, tape recorders, musical instruments, records, and sheet music.

Two listening rooms will be provided for organs and stereo-phonographs and teaching facilities for organ and piano instruction will be offered.

The store manager will be Thomas Milligan of 21 Berkeley Avenue, San Anselmo. Milligan was previously in the Kearny Street store in San Francisco.

James Valley of Santa Venetia, formerly in charge of the Grand Avenue store in San Rafael, will manage the organ and piano department. Opening hours from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily will be observed, Lilienthal said. Monday and Friday evening openings are also being considered.

Sherman Clay and Co., founded in 1870, now maintains 23 stores in California, Oregon, and Washington.

Found Guilty Of Drug Possession

Glenn Cliffe Bainum, 29, of San Rafael, was found guilty Friday of having dangerous drugs with him at Juanita's Galley two Sundays ago.

However, Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Municipal Court acquitted Bainum of the second charge—possession of a hypodermic needle and syringe.

The judge set 3 p.m. April 9 as the time to sentence Bainum on the first count, possession of dangerous drugs.

Assistant Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales said Bainum was caught at the Waldo Point restaurant with several barbiturate capsules in his pocket. A box of pills and a hypodermic needle and syringe were found in a car parked outside.

Guarantee a retirement income we can't outlive?

How?

With your life insurance... and the help your agent is trained to give you!

YOU: You mean any of my policies?

YOUR LIFE INSURANCE AGENT: Any of them that have cash values.

YOU: How much income can I get?

AGENT: Well, that depends on the policies you use, and how long you've had them. But you'll find that the additional income these policies can provide may make the difference between a comfortable retirement and just getting by.

YOU: How do I do it?

AGENT: By making use of a unique advantage of life insurance. When you're ready to retire, we'll just convert your policies so they'll bring you a regular income.

YOU: Sounds good. But how about my wife? I'll want her protected.

AGENT: Of course. I can set it up for you as joint income. One that's guaranteed to last as long as either of you lives.

YOU: Never realized life insurance could do that.

AGENT: Well, that's why you have an agent!
